Record Crowds Throng Fair Grounds

8000 ENTER GATES FIRST DAY OF SHOW

Multitudes Gather from Afar and View Wonders With Awe, Admiration

GAY CARNIVAL SPIRIT

Merrymakers Cast Aside Dull Care and Enjoy Entertainment to Utmost

ALWAYS a magnet to pleasure-seekers throughout the Southland, the Orange County fair yesterday, on its opening day, entertained a record crowd. It is estimated by fair officials that more than 8000 persons entered the gates.

They came to celebrate the county's annual main event, to enjoy Santa Ana's hospitality, to view the numerous and varied exhibits, many of them works of art involving an outlay of thousands of dollars, and to witness the different attractions, ranging from historical pageants set to music, to the wild west show.

Carnival Spirit Reigns

Santa Ana's old-time carnival spirit, handed down by the Spaniards, who lived here in days gone by, reigned throughout the fair grounds last night, with every man, woman and child tuned in to the various numbers on the program.

The opening day was a success in every respect, said A. M. Stanley, director general of the big show. It started out with a bang and ended with a rush.

The march to the fair grounds began early in the afternoon. Soon after the official opening by U. S. Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, all streets leading to the grounds were alive with traffic and long before dark the fair presented a moving mass of humanity.

Concession Men Busy

Concessionaries were doing a big business. The can-openers became kind as ice boxes, previously stocked to the limit with "hot puppets" and "hamburgers" were depleted; fry cooks at the stands waxed so sorely that they worked automatically; ice cream booths had to send in rush orders for additional supplies.

Sweepstakes for the best exhibit in the main feature tent were awarded today to the Garden Grove Farm center's display. Yesterday this exhibit was awarded the first prize for the best display in the community diversified class.

A close contender for the sweepstakes cup was the La Habra display, which yesterday was awarded the first prize in the specialized community class.

Tia Juana Is Gay In Spite of Fire

TIA JUANA, Mex., Sept. 23.—Reconstruction crews worked all night in Tia Juana, as revelers across the street, unmindful of the dark ashes of what 24 hours before had been some of the gayest places in the resort, continued dancing and making merry as usual.

Except for a little more congestion, due to the smaller number of establishments operating, Tia Juana was the same as it has been since it became popular following prohibition in the United States.

By early evening, a wooden wall and floor of one cabaret in the middle of the fire-swept block had been rebuilt and work was proceeding on others.

In addition to the door being locked, both windows of the room were tightly closed. A small gas jet used for emergency lighting purposes was found open.

NEW TESTIFIES BEFORE SPECIAL AIRCRAFT BOARD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—After hearing from Secretary of Commerce Hoover the case for commercial aviation, the special aircraft investigating board adjourned late today until Monday, when testimony of active flying officers will be taken.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Now that the feasibility and efficacy of air mail service has been proven by the post-office department, the government should make definite plans to lease existing routes to private companies, Postmaster General Harry S. New told the special aircraft board today.

New pointed with pride to his department's operation of the plane service and said it demonstrated that commercial aviation is a possibility.

At the outset of his remarks, New made it plain that the post-office department "has no place" in any differences existing between military and naval authorities over aviation.

Tracing the history of the air service, New told of the unsuccessful attempt to establish air routes from Washington to New York, Chicago to St. Louis and Chicago to the twin cities. He ascribed the failure of these routes to the short distance between terminals.

He told of the establishment of the transcontinental system, with its lighted airway, illuminated landing fields and many other special facilities at a cost of $214,405. This service was put in operation July 1, 1924.

"Since that time," said New, "we have been able to meet our schedule with a degree of regularity that has been highly gratifying. Of course, there have been delays and interruptions, just as there have been to passenger trains. I am inclined to think that the inquiry will develop that our delays have been less numerous than those of railroads."

During the fiscal year ended last June, the mail service flew 2,074,764 miles on the transcontinental route, with a percentage of 96 figures submitted by New showed.

New said the post-office department has spent $10,000,000 to date on air mail operations, while receipts from the transcontinental line alone total $60,000 a month. More than 1960 miles of lighted airways have been built, ships constructed at Maywood, Ill., and on September 15 assets aggregated $3,653,000.

Body Found 40 Miles at Sea Mystifies

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 23.—A strange ocean mystery confronted authorities here today, with the finding of an unidentified man's body, a 10-gallon keg strapped to the left leg.

The corpse was discovered entangled in a bed of kelp, 40 miles off shore. It apparently had been in the water 10 days.

Harbor officials believe the body is that of Hans Christensen, skipper of the fishing boat Edna L. Christensen was reported lost overboard near Catalina on the night of September 9.

Other authorities advanced the theory that some doomed sailor tied the keg to his leg in the hope that it would buoy up his body.

The murder theory was not given much credence.

ROYALTY SEES PRINCESS OF ITALY MARRIED

(By United Press)

RACONIGLI, Italy, Sept. 23.—Impressive in its solemnity and simplicity, the wedding of Princess Mafalda, beautiful second daughter of the king and queen of Italy, to Prince Philip of Hesse, a nephew of the former kaiser, was celebrated in the royal chapel here today.

For the first time in modern times during a mixed marriage, a nuptial mass was held when Princess Mafalda, a Catholic, and Prince Philip, a Protestant, were wed.

Royal guests included the Prince Paul of Serbia, Daniello of Montenegro, Charles of Roumania, Christopher of Greece, Archduke Joseph of Austria, Princesses Helen of Roumania, Elizabeth of Greece, and the Duchess of Aosta, Prince George of Greece, Princess Karol of Roumania, Princess Maria Jose of Belgium, Princess Olga of Serbia and Princess Haag of Holland.

The entire royal family of Italy, including the Aosta and Genoa branches was in attendance.

A touch of martial brilliance was given the wedding by the uniforms of the men guests. The king himself was in the resplendent uniform of a marshal of Italy, while the crown prince, just now become of age, was attired proudly in his lieutenant's garb. Other officers came in full dress uniforms.

PITTSBURGH WINS, CAPTURES PENNANT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The Pittsburgh Pirates today clinched the 1925 National league pennant.

The defeat of the New York Giants, 8 to 0, by St. Louis in the first game of their doubleheader, put the Pirates in a position where they cannot now overtake the Pirates, regardless of what happens to Pittsburgh.

It is the first pennant Pittsburgh has had since 1909.

Pittsburgh made the victory doubly certain by defeating Philadelphia, 2 to 1.

HEAT TO CONTINUE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—Southern California today sweltered in the grip of a September heat-wave. Local weather officials predicted the warm weather would continue for at least another 24 hours.

SHENANDOAH'S LAST TRIP MADE AGAINST ADVICE OF COMMANDER, IS EVIDENCE

Postponement of Flight Was Asked by Lansdowne, Documents Show

(By United Press)

LAKEHURST, N. Y., Sept. 23.—The trip of the Shenandoah on which the dirigible was wrecked was ordered by the navy department against the efforts of Com. Zachary Lansdowne to have it postponed. It was shown by documentary evidence introduced at today's session of the naval inquiry into the Shenandoah disaster.

Capt. George W. Steele, commander of the Lakehurst air station, presented correspondence between Lansdowne and the navy bureau of aeronautics, showing Lansdowne's desire to postpone the flight on the grounds that mooring and refueling facilities had not been tested.

The correspondence showed that, in June, when the flight was first ordered, Lansdowne asked that it be postponed until the second week in September. When he received orders for the flight, he telegraphed the bureau of aeronautics on August 4 that "it would be impracticable to cover all the points in the itinerary."

He recommended postponement again until the second week in September "on account of limited time for preparations at Scott field and Detroit."

The correspondence introduced did not reveal any protest, however, based on the condition of the ship or on weather conditions in the territory to be covered by the route.

Claims Condition Satisfactory

The Shenandoah was in entirely satisfactory condition when she left the naval air station here on the cruise during which she was wrecked, Capt. George W. Steele, Jr., commander of the air station, testified today.

He was the first witness before the third day's session of the naval board of inquiry. He was closely questioned as to the inspection of the ship before departure.

Inspection was in the jurisdiction of Lt. Com. Zachary Lansdowne, commander of the Shenandoah, Steele said, but explained that he himself was "perfectly satisfied" with her condition.

Steele explained that the Shenandoah did not operate as a unit of the fleet at the time of the wreck, but was under the separate command of Lansdowne.

Repairs Up To Lansdowne

All matters of making repairs and similar phases of the upkeep of the ship were in the control of Commander Lansdowne, Steele said.

Accessible metal parts of the ship, Steele said, were under almost constant inspection and whenever any sign of deterioration was noted tests were made by taking samples.

"The structural condition of the Shenandoah was considered excellent," Steele said, in explaining how tests were made before the flight.

STATE LABOR JUMPS IN U. S. AIR DISPUTE

(By United Press)

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 23.—The California State Federation of Labor jumped into the naval and army air mixup today when resolutions were introduced calling upon California's senators and congressmen to demand an "early, thorough, non-partisan and open probe by congress" of the conditions laid bare by Col. William Mitchell.

Among the mass of resolutions being considered this morning by the resolutions committee were several declaring Governor Richardson declared his use of the veto by which 27 labor bills were killed, and attacking his economy program.

A resolution indorsing the Swing-Johnson bill followed a fiery speech by Congressman Phil Swing, its author.

CAILLAUX IS JOVIAL AS HE REACHES U. S.

Washington Officials Are at Quarantine to Meet Finance Minister and Aides

HASTEN TO CAPITAL

Expect Settlement to Be Effected So Delegation Can Sail on October 3

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The French debt commission arrived here at 3:30 this afternoon.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The French debt commission arrived in America today to arrange payment of approximately $4,200,000,000 owed the U. S. government as a result of war loans and accrued interest.

Headed by Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux, the commission was met at Quarantine by Garrard Bigelow Winston, under secretary of the treasury and secretary of the American debt funding commission; Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, and Emile Deschamps, French ambassador to the United States, together with other French and American officials.

Caillaux was in a light and jovial mood when besieged by correspondents at Quarantine.

"Do you expect as good terms from our government as you received from the British?" he was asked.

"O' better, he replied, "with a cheerful smile.

Terms Given By British

The British terms provided 62 annuities of $62,500,000 each, provided the same arrangement could be made by France with the United States.

"Had you heard that in Washington the British terms were regarded as rather too lenient?" he was asked.

"Why, I had regarded them rather as not lenient at all," he replied.

He emphatically denied he ever had threatened that, if he did not receive as favorable terms from America as were granted by Great Britain, he would take his commission home.

"Never said anything of the sort," he snapped.

Then, as to how long it would require to reach a settlement in Washington, Caillaux disclosed that he planned to sail on his return trip to France October 3.

Fast Work Necessary

"That will mean pretty fast work, won't it?" someone suggested.

"Well, I always work fast," he replied.

Arrangement had been made for the quick transportation of the commission to Washington in a private car and the first conferences on the debt problems are scheduled to begin tomorrow morning.

In a sense, the coming of Caillaux constituted a high point in the extraordinary career of this statesman. The debt delegation is recognized as being the most important mission from France since the war. And poignancy is added to its coming because the financial wizardry of the man at its head, now here to engage the best financial brains in the American government, was responsible for his return from exile as an alleged traitor during the war to the post of finance minister of the French republic and only a step from the premiership of that nation.

Caillaux has engaged in many battles of witnesses—as a statesman before the war, as the accused, facing death, on charges of dealing with the enemy, as a political campaigner seeking to regain his seat in the French parliament, as the man to lead France out of her financial confusion and now, finally, as the head of the French commission to arrange settlement of his country's debt to the United States.

The commission arrives in the hope that an interest rate may be fixed as low as two per cent—the rate granted to France by the British government—but financiers here doubt that such terms will be acceptable to the American government. Nevertheless, bankers generally believe that a satisfactory settlement will be reached without delay and that it will not embrace payment by France of anything immediately on the principal of her debt, which amounts to $3,340,000,000.

The exact terms of the French proposal are closely guarded, but it is assumed they cover, in addition to a low interest rate for the future, a suggested regulation of accrued interest, payments on the accrued interest beginning immediately and arrangements for payments on interest and principal extending over a period of 62 years or more.

MORE THAN 20 EXHIBITS FROM OUT OF COUNTY

An amazing amount of California industries is represented in the industrial tent at the Orange County fair this year. Not only are the industries from Orange County amazing in their number and variety but outside industries have rallied to the support of the Orange County fair with an excellent spirit of co-operation.

Of the 80 odd exhibits in the huge tent, more than 20 are from outside communities. Riverside, Los Angeles, Pomona, Pasadena, Hollywood, Artesia, San Bernardino and numerous other towns have placed exhibits in the tent. San Bernardino has a large exhibit of oranges advertising their National Orange show in February.

The O-U-Dust mops are displaying their wares from Pasadena. A new drink, Cot-fig manufactured in Pomona and sold by the Health Food Distributors of Los Angeles, and other outside manufacturing concerns are represented. A California made sewing machine is displayed by the Rowley Sewing machine company of Hollywood. The plant will manufacture 3000 machines a day, according to representatives here and is capable of doing the work of a hem-stitching machine as well.

Other exhibits from outside communities include displays of building materials, paints, cements, tile, brick, fur and numerous others.

The Orange county exhibit is amazing in the proportion and variety of articles which are made in Orange County factories. Factories are hidden away in almost every community in the county it is revealed by a careful survey of the display.

Among the articles most prominent in the displays are, rope, cord, wire, copper wire, batteries, cereals, cotton materials, grape juice, perfume, canned goods, woolen goods and blankets, cigars and tobacco products, automobile products, glass, leather goods, soap, radio equipment, mattresses, implements, bricks, tanks, orchard implements, and a large amount of machinery.

Special booths are maintained by number of organizations. One of the feature booths of the industrial exhibit is the Orange county Parent Teacher Association booth. The booth is under the direction of Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, president of the county P. T. A. and Mrs. J. H. Stewart, chairman of a special committee. Others of the committee include, Mrs. N. A. Walker, and Mrs. Guy Koons. According to Mrs. Snow the booth proceeds will be used to further the "Co-operation of home and school for child welfare."

HOLLYWOOD RIDER WINNER AT RODEO

Tom Scarlet, a Hollywood rider, yesterday won the first prize in the broncho busting contest in one of the best carried out programs ever staged at an Orange county fair. Scarlet was seconded by Tim Irwin, of Visalia. C. Garrison, also of Visalia, was third. Garrison took a bad spill, but, according to the judges had stayed on his horse the required length of time. A number of other clever busters also were seen in action at the sawdust arena at the far end of the five huge tents which house the fair.

A large crowd turned out to see the rodeo. The afternoon started with several practice races including a practice potato race and a practice polo match.

Wild steer riding, calf roping and wild cow milking were the other events. Ray Boyer, of Visalia, was awarded first prize in the steer riding. Ambrose Valentello, a San Juan Capistrano boy, was selected a close second. Tom Sutton, well known rider from the Hollywood district was third in the steer riding event.

Joe Cline of Los Angeles demonstrated the correct way to rope and tie a calf. He won the event in 30 seconds. Fay Adams, of Hollywood, and Jim Bain, of Hanford, tied for second. They will run the contest off today and the loser will take third money for the event.

Fay Adams and Tom Scarlet, two Hollywood boys, also brought home the milk in the cow milking contest. Leo Douglas and George Studley, a couple of Irvine ranch riders, were second. Jack Jones and Bert Higgins, of Hollywood, captured third place.

PROMINENT MOVIE STAR TO BE AT FAIR

Miss Lucille Pinson, the Atwater Kent girl of radioland and prominent movie star with Hal Roach comedies, Metro-Goldwyn and Universal pictures, will appear in person at the Atwater Kent booth in the industrial tent Thursday night, it was announced today by Charles F. Randall, local Atwater Kent radio dealer.

Miss Pinson has been persuaded to appear at the Orange county fair by Randall. She will come direct from the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona. According to Randall, the movie actress is one of the prettiest girls in California and was awarded first prize at a beauty contest recently. She will bring with her a number of her photographs and will present them to those who visit the booth during the evening.

The appearance of Miss Pinson is only one of many feature displays planned for the week by a multitude of industrial exhibitors. Another special feature is being planned for later in the week by the Atwater Kent shop, according to Randall.

HARBOR BOND ORDINANCE IS DELAYED WEEK

Calling of the Newport harbor bond election, now planned for next April 7, has been delayed a week, awaiting preparation of the election ordinance, it was announced today.

Discussing details of the ordinance with District Attorney A. P. Nelson late yesterday, the county supervisors applied final touches to the document, which will come before the board for adoption next Tuesday, it is said.

At yesterday's conference it was decided to limit the bond issue to a run of 20 years, at 4 1-2 per cent interest, instead of spreading the obligation over a longer period. Members of the board agreed that, for the purpose of cutting the interest total, it would be good business to retire the bonds as quickly as possible.

Should the combined proposals, of $650,000 for harbor entrance improvement, and $550,000 for inside development be carried, the bonds would increase the tax rate eight cents, on the basis of present assessed valuation, Auditor W. C. Jerome estimated. That was not regarded as too heavy a burden for the tax-payers. Over a 25-year period, the rate would be increased seven cents, Jerome said.

On the 20-year basis, he said, there would be $114,000 to be paid each year, $60,000 of the principal being retired, and $54,000 interest to meet. Jerome joined with members of the board in advocating quick retirement of the bonds, for the purpose of eliminating heavy interest payments.

FAMOUS HORSES ON EXHIBIT AT SHOW

To those who spend their time about the stock corals at the Orange County Fair a number of interesting things have been revealed. The prize stock is providing a huge drawing card also. Magnificent cattle, some of them the prizes of the best herds in the state, and many interesting, high priced, well bred horses and mares furnish many an interesting episode which is only heard in the gossip under the tent.

Under this tent is a horse which was featured in "The Sheik," a moving picture which starred Rudolph Valentino.

In this tent is also housed the trick riding horses of Adele Von Ohl, of Palmdale, the first woman rider to ever attempt the plunge on horseback. Miss Von Ohl, whose real name is Mrs. James D. Parker, was for several years associated with the society circus at the Hippodrome theater in New York city. It was then that she trained a horse to make the 20-foot leap into a tank of water.

Later she associated with Barnum and Bailey's circus. It was while she was riding in the circus that she met her husband, an old circus man and chief of the circus cowpunchers for two years.

Miss Von Ohl is seen daily in the arena showing the many tricks of her favorite horses.

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

YOUR FALL HAT

Personality in dress is up from your face and up to your hat. Suit, collar, shirt, cravat, handkerchief, hosiery and shoes are units which form one hang-together theme of dress, each one second-order and supplementing the other, like the instruments in an orchestra. Your hat stands proud and alone, separate from all the rest by an island of space—your face. Moreover, your hat is the article of wear that the observer first notices, because it is in his direct line of vision. It can hardly escape attention and commendation or condemnation, as the case may be. Therefore, the importance of selecting a hat of smart style cannot well be overrated. Becoming shape is mentioned ahead of the others, for without becomingness to the individual the material and style of a hat are insignificant factors.

Many men go about choosing a hat in the wrong way. They make up their minds that they want a certain color or shape and cannot be dissuaded to take what really favors their heads and features. In most instances, it is far better to leave the selection of a hat to those who know their business, because they have been schooled to study hats, heads and harmony and their harmonious relationship to one another.

If a man by his own bull-headed (or, rather, bull-hatted) insistence upon a certain size, shape or shade of hat later becomes dissatisfied with it; if his wife cuttingly remarks, "A smart salesman can sell you anything" or his friends twit him with, "Where do you get your hats?" In a restaurant?" does the hatted blame the hatter? He does not, he blames the latter who is as innocent of wrong-doing as he is of framing the Eighteenth Amendment. Don't assume that you know all about hats. It's a business. Leave it to those whose business it is, and, pounds to pence, you'll leave with a far more flattering hat.

Full colors in hats comprise principally light tans, medium tans and dark browns and light grays, greenish grays, bluish grays and pearl-tinted and silver grays. Green, as an independent color, has not yet regained its one-time vogue. Brims, sometimes flat-set, are broad and crowns are full, as sketched here. Brims are well edged, raw edge or bound edge at the whim of the wearer. Bands, plain-colored or striped, may smartly harmonize or sharply contrast with the ground color of the hat. Always wear your hat tipped a little to the left. Keeping it on the centre of the head looks too stiff and stodgy.

FROZEN ORANGE CASE WILL BE HEARD TODAY

The case of Robert Strain, prominent Fullerton packing house manager, who is fighting charges of the county and federal horticultural inspectors that he sold frozen oranges, was expected to be settled in Justice K. E. Morrison's court this afternoon.

At the morning session of court, the prosecution's case was delayed by the absence of C. W. Osborne, of the Osborne Fruit and Vegetable company, Fullerton, who was wanted as a witness against Strain. Strain is alleged to have sold the fruit to the Osborne house, where inspectors apprehended it.

County Horticultural Commissioner A. A. Brock brought the complaint against Strain, after a federal and a county inspector had tested samples of the fruit and found frost damage averaging 35 per cent, it was alleged.

The legal limit is 14 per cent.

William H. Polard, federal inspector and W. H. Wright, county inspector, testified to making the tests, and the results. L. J. Barnes, another county inspector, testified that previously he saw the same fruit in the American Fruit Growers packing house, of which Strain is manager, and also saw it being moved one night to the Osborne house. He had found frost damage in the fruit and had been watching it, for that reason, he said.

Osborne was necessary as a witness, to prove that the fruit had been sold, but he was not in court. Deputy sheriffs started a search for him and the case was continued until 2 p. m. to await his arrival.

Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin conducted the prosecution today, Attorney Sam L. Collins, Fullerton, defending Strain.

Commissioner Brock announced today that he would press a new charge, filed today, accusing Strain of packing frosted fruit. Brock said his inspectors had found and condemned fruit that Strain's house had already prepared for shipment.

Allegorical Pageant At Fair Is Big Success

HUNDREDS SEE FIRST SHOW ON OPENING NIGHT

"Birth of Empire" Staged In Open-air Arena—Is History of This County

Orange County Fair association more than fulfilled pre-performance promises last night when it presented to an overflowing house of enthusiastic citizens at the fair arena the allegorical pageant, "The Birth of an Empire."

The pageant, written by Miss Jennie S. Lasby, member of the Santa Ana high school faculty, depicts in a vivid and colorful manner the history and development of Orange county and nearby sections from the early days of the mission padres to the present time.

On the spacious stage of the outdoor arena, in the blaze of a battery of colored spot lights, visions of "the California that was" were unfolded to the spectators.

Much credit for the success of the show is due to Mrs. J. V. Kolsey, manager, assisted by Mrs. A. M. Stanley. The stage work is directed by Miss Claire Coutant, assisted by Miss Faustina Lucero.

Others contributing their services are Mrs. Harriet Owen Enderley, stage decorations; Miss Hazel Bemus, costumes, and Mrs. Marshall Harmon, properties.

Here is the story of the pageant: Episode I

It happened not so long ago, only one hundred and fifty years by the scrolls of history, that this land of Southern California was uninhabited save by a few wandering Indians. These gathered their food from the land as best they could. It was a difficult task. Nature had decreed that her treasure house should be unlocked only by men of great resourcefulness and at the price of great labor. No implements had been devised by the Indian to stir the soil, no way had been found to store water to be used at will. As the years went by hunger was often his portion and sometimes starvation walked in the land.

Episode II

Then from the south, with its richness of mines and agriculture, came the padres. Worn and weary they walked the parched plains and baked hills. But ever before them was the hope that through them help, physical and spiritual, might come to the wretched inhabitants. To them the land was not a cruel waste of sand and cactus, but a valley of promise. Bring to it water and effort and it might become a land of plenty with great fields of grain, herds of feeding cattle and the home of happy and contented neophytes.

Episode III

The padres were not left to work alone in their beautiful valleys. From the south there soon followed Spanish gentlemen who made this land gay with fiestas and sports. Into the new vast territory they introduced the ways of Old Spain—a great house where hospitality ruled. Around it were uncounted acres which even to their careless hands yielded wealth. But into this land of gaiety and wastefulness came the Anglo-Saxon, loving order and industry, and bringing with him the implements and ways of his thrifty forefathers.

Episode IV

Once more a great change came over the land. The earth which had given to the Spaniard his plenty is urged to produce many times as much. Deep ditches were dug that the clear mountain water might be made the servant of man to refresh the thirsty soil when he willed. Soon the hurrying streams gave new life to the parched acres. The brown of the desert vanished and its place appeared the green of fields and groves.

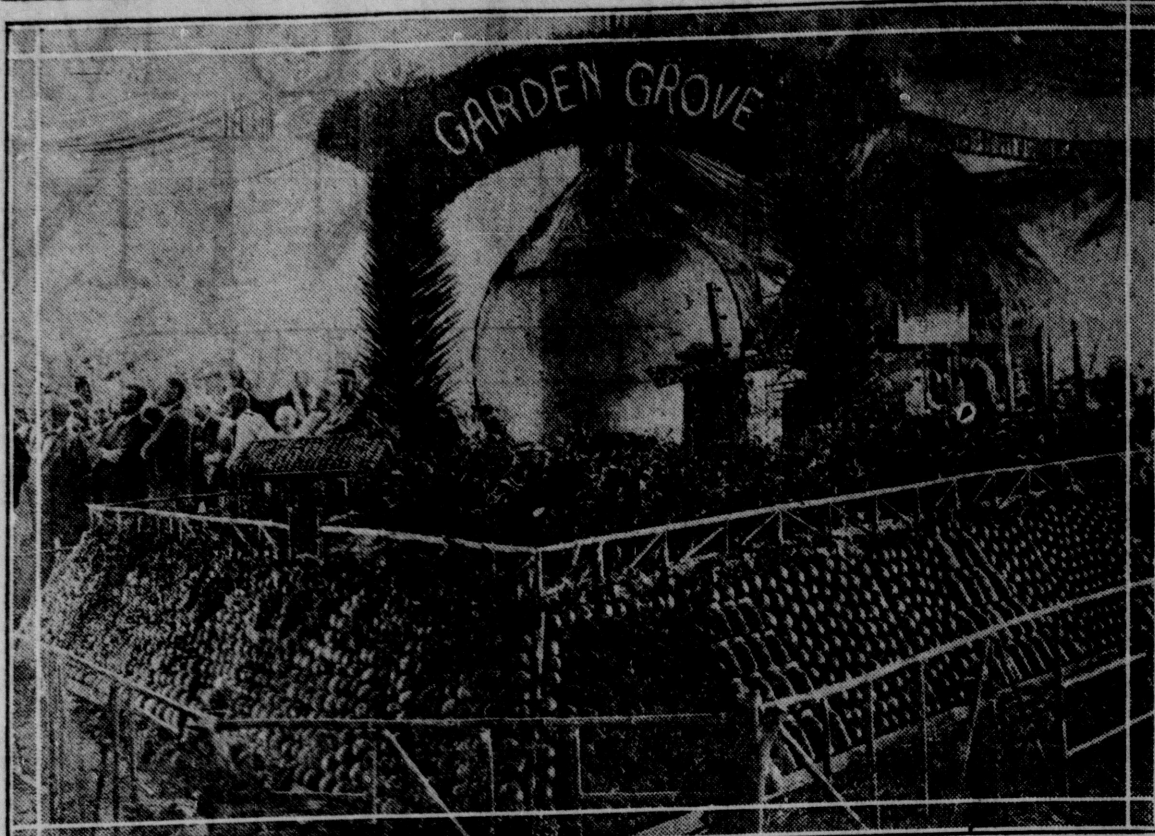

Episode V

It was a difficult task to find what could be planted on the newly acquired acres that would flourish in the untamed soil and strange climate. In one part of the new land the grape seemed to be at home and vast vineyards made their appearance. Prosperity seemed to dwell with the toll-worn pioneers when suddenly there stole up in the vineyards a disease, relentless and defiant. It left the valley at last, but the vines lay dead and despair hovered in the valley.

Episode VI

Once more the dauntless settlers of our lands were forced to search for the secrets of the soil and climate. From Persia they brought the walnut, from sunny Spain the orange. At last the great valley fulfilled its promise. Into the markets of the world the Valencia made its way. And today the orange, the walnut and a score of other products of our proud acres bring to us the comforts and the luxuries we love. For the prosperity that these tireless acres bring may the inheritors of this valley of ours be grateful.

WINNER IN SWEEPSTAKES CLASS

Here is the Garden Grove exhibit which took first prize at the Orange County fair and then was awarded the sweepstakes prize over all exhibits. It is a miniature orchard, typical of the Garden Grove district, and everything, even to a tiny house in one portion, is made of fruit and vegetables grown in the district. Mrs. C. B. Henry of Garden Grove is the designer of the display.

Epilogue

'Tis no longer a fable! The earth heaves and rolls with its burden of wealth. And each year of our growth brings new awe to a world e'er watchful of change.

That the desert can bear and the wilderness bloom for humanity's use.

Yet the vision grows larger; Those who have toiled in the years that are past.

Leave to those who shall reap in the years yet to come.

A land that is blessed of God and naught can make it poor.

So we point with pride to the work of man in this land of the far away West.

In the land but a few short years ago roamed o'er by a wandering tribe.

And we say: "Behold a land of homes. A land of pride and content."

GARDEN GROVE FARM CENTER PRIZE WINNER

Meeting with general approval throughout the fair grounds was the first prize award made yesterday by the judges to Garden Grove farm center for the best community exhibit in the diversified class.

The exhibit, the outstanding feature of the main tent, represents a typical Garden Grove fruit ranch, as designed by Mrs. C. B. Henry, assisted by Albert Christensen, chairman of the farm bureau. Mrs. Jack Jentges, Dr. and Mrs. Luedke, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Christensen, James Scraggast, Mrs. Frank Mills, Mrs. Ed Chaffee, Garfield Allen and E. R. Stillens.

How the exhibit was planned and put together, was told by Mr. Christensen.

"Garden Grove Farm Center decided to enter the Orange County fair about three months ago. With the amount of fruits and vegetables available in that community, it was decided to enter for the prize under the diversified class. Joint committees from the farm center, chamber of commerce and the Ladies Civic club met at the hotel at Garden Grove and plans were gotten under way. 'Garden Grove' was chosen as the title of the exhibit, and the committee lost no time in formulating plans to carry out the design.

"Everybody who had suggestions to offer was listened to with the result that from day to day the plans were changed to make room for some new improvement, adding purpose as well as artistic touch to the design.

"Fruits and vegetables were gathered as they ripened and placed on cold storage which were used in the feature display and plate exhibit. 'Co-operation' was the key word of the entire community, everybody worked harmoniously, and gave generously of his products for the exhibit. It was a lot of work but the efforts put forth and the result obtained is gratifying to all concerned. The feature measures 20x20 and contains local products. More than 200 different varieties have been used in decorating the booth."

TEAMSTER INJURED MILKING WILD COW

Earl Miller, head teamster for Sparks and McClelland, Anaheim contractors, was slightly injured yesterday afternoon at the first rodeo to be put on by the fair association. The accident happened during that thrilling exhibition, the wild cow milking contest, almost at the close of the afternoon program.

Miller, who was milking for James Parker, became the center of attraction for three cows. The cows met with a rush and one of the horns made a wound several inches deep in Miller's thigh. He was also slightly bruised.

After receiving first aid treatment at the grounds Miller was taken to a physician who said his condition was not serious.

Miller was expected to take part in the contest again this afternoon, according to his partner.

It was during the wild cow milking contest, that one of the cows was thrown and received a broken leg.

LIVESTOCK AT FAIR VALUED AT $200,000

The cream of Southern California live stock, draft horses, saddle and gaited horses, mules, prize cattle and hogs, valued at nearly $200,000 was on exhibition today in the live stock tent of the Orange county. It is undoubtedly the most wonderful exhibit of live stock ever shown in Orange county.

Lovers of horseflesh are offered an opportunity to see some of the most famous and well bred animals in the United States. Several horses exhibited by the Palos Verdes stables are valued at more than $3000 each. One of the features of the gaited horse exhibit is a magnificent Arabian, which was ridden by, and starred with, Rudolph Valentino in "The Sheik."

The cattle exhibit is second to none in the state. Prize winning milk cows, and thoroughbred bulls, some valued between $3000 and $4000, are on exhibition by live stock farms from over the state. Many of the premier dairy herds of the state are represented. Farmers looking for pure bred stock, to lay a foundation for some of the most excellent dairy herds in the state, will receive a number of pointers from the exhibitors, who are to be found near the live stock pens.

More than 100 animals are housed in the tent. Judging started this morning at 9 o'clock. Some of the best known stock men in the state will select the prize winners.

UNION PACIFIC MEN TO TOUR ORANGE COUNTY

A group of agents representing the Union Pacific railroad in the southern states will tour Orange county tomorrow to inform themselves on this section and the method of packing and handling fruits and walnuts, according to announcement by C. S. Browne, general agent for the company here.

The railroad men are in the Southland on an educational tour, equipping themselves for more intelligent discussion with patrons of various features of agricultural, business and social life in Southern California.

Browne has arranged for his colleagues an itinerary that will include visits to citrus and walnut packing houses, citrus and walnut groves, oil fields, and other places of interest in the county.

Particular attention will be given to Orange County Harbor and the popularity of the port for pleasure craft, and possibility of its development into a commercial harbor will be called to the attention of the group.

A luncheon at the South Seas club, Balboa, will be a feature of the harbor visit. J. P. Greeley, Balboa, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, and Harry Welch, secretary of the organization, will join the travelers at luncheon.

Included in the list of visiting Union Pacific representatives will be P. S. Smith, traveling freight and passenger agent, Atlanta; W. B. Markham, traveling freight and passenger agent, Birmingham; J. Stanley Orr, district passenger agent, Cincinnati; C. H. Saltmarsh, city passenger agent, Boston; R. D. Tate, traveling passenger agent, New Orleans; J. W. McBurney, traveling freight and passenger agent, St. Louis; R. W. Smock, general agent, Long Beach; J. V. Carroll, district freight and passenger agent, San Pedro; C. S. Browne, general agent, Santa Ana.

“KERNELS” BY THE COLONEL

The Y.M.C.A. will start a course on “Marriage and Family Relations,” beginning next week. Registration fee is $2.50 for the course and it's for young men “who wish to prepare for the responsibilities of marriage and home life.”

The fee for a marriage license is only $2, why not save the other four-bits to spend on the honeymoon.

But then, even at that, the lectures should teach young men a number of things such as “The Art of Dodging Rolling Pins,” “Proper Handling of the Garbage Can,” “How to Wash Linen” and “Why a Married Man Should Eat His Meals at Home.”

Lectures concerning the practice known as “The Roving Eye” would not be amiss for those who see matrimony just around the corner from them.

“Tricks Used by Women and How to Avoid Them,” is also probably included in the $2.50 worth of good advice and great hordes of young men, dressed in “bags” and sport sweaters are expected to attend.

“You can call this my matrimonial bureau, if you want to,” said Ralph Smedley, secretary, who is looking forward to the coming lectures with great interest.

Today's booby prize should go to the motorist who suddenly cuts in on you at an intersection and then yells back at you because you did not read his mind sufficiently to know that he was going to cut in.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan with several others is leaving Sunday to hunt deer near Yreka, Calif. Yesterday the sheriff found a deer's antlers on his desk, with the following note: “This is what a buck is supposed to have on his head, but if you happen to kill a doe, you can use these as I have no further use for them. Obarr.”

So the sheriff is taking them along. At that, it will probably save him from buying some up north, just before he returns to Santa Ana.

Go into a Santa Ana theater and invariably you will see the theater's ad for a coming attraction which ends with: “and five acts of selected vaudeville.” But you never hear the fellow that selects it bragging about it. It wouldn't be safe.

LEGION STAND ON GOVERNOR IS EXPLAINED

Gov. Friend W. Richardson, was not booed at the state convention of the American Legion, held at Catalina island last week, because he pocketed legislation proposed to aid the American Legion, but because he tabled measures drafted to aid disabled ex-service men.

This was the statement made by Wilbur Getty, commander of Santa Ana post, No. 131, American legion, who was present at the convention at the time the ex-soldiers, sailors and marines sang their famous song to the governor, “Out the Window You Must Go.”

“The American Legion had no selfish motive, in giving the governor the official raspberry,” Getty said. “More than 50 men are working full time, all the time, to aid the ex-service men who were crippled and otherwise disabled in the great war, and when the governor pocketed measures recommended by these faithful servants of the men who gave their all, we felt we should let him know how we stood on it.”

Getty pointed out the fact that the state of California gave approximately 4 per cent of the nation's fighting men to the service during the war, but at the present time more than 20 per cent of the disabled men in the entire country are living in California.

Frigidaire does More than Ice! and Costs Less!

ICE melts and must be replenished. With Frigidaire there is nothing to be replenished.

Melting ice produces moisture. Frigidaire is dry.

An insufficient ice supply means a rising temperature and spoiled foods. Frigidaire is always cold.

Ice refrigeration means that you must constantly remember to order ice—that you must often stay at home until ice has been delivered—that you cannot go away for the week-end without perishable foods being spoiled.

But Frigidaire is automatic. It keeps your refrigerator cold and your foods fresh without the slightest attention. You can leave your house for days at a time—when you return you'll find your foods in the Frigidaire cabinet as fresh as when you put them there.

And with all its advantages and increased convenience, Frigidaire operation usually costs less than ice.

We would like to have you see one of the new Frigidaire models we now have on display. It is a complete, self-contained model—has ample storage space for the average family and can be installed for only $245, plus freight and installation. It can be delivered to your home promptly and convenient terms can be arranged if desired.

MORE PUPILS ENROLLED IN ELEMENTARY GRADES HERE

Increase Disclosed Among Younger Pupils in Public Schools of Santa Ana.

JUNIOR COLLEGE'S ATTENDANCE GROWS

Further Registration Expected, As Students Return from Summer Work

Santa Ana's school enrollment in the elementary grades showed an increase of 164 pupils the first day of school over the corresponding day last year, while all other schools in the city have about as many pupils as on the opening day of the 1924-25 school year, according to a report submitted by J. A. Cranston, city school superintendent, to the board of education, yesterday afternoon.

So far this year, 20 less high school students are enrolled than on the opening day last year, but this decrease is more than offset by the fact that 40 more junior college students are enrolled this year than last.

The biggest decrease in any one school in the city was at the Roosevelt school, according to Cranston, where 278 were registered on the first day last year, compared with 223 the first day of this year.

Residences Crowded Out. That the Santa Ana business district is fast eating into this school district, was the reason set forth by Cranston for the decrease. He said that a number of new business houses had been built in the district of the Roosevelt school during the year, replacing residences.

There is a small increase in the number of pupils at the Julia La-throp junior high school and a small decrease at the Frances Willard school, one of which will offset the other, Cranston reported.

Referring to the decrease at the high school, Cranston remarked that it was impossible to tell at this time whether the school will have a decrease for the entire year.

"There always are a number of students who work during the summer months and who do not come to school the first two weeks because of their jobs, and it will be the other, Cranston asserted. He stated that he knew of several students who were coming back to school but who, so far, had not registered.

Mexican Schools Closed. Because of the fact that the walnut season is earlier this year than

EXCHANGE CLUB HEARS ADDRESS BY FRED FORGY

Declaring that passing of too many laws, and particularly laws that are not respected by the populace is a step toward disintegration of civilization, Attorney Fred Forgy, in addressing the Exchange club yesterday, said it is the duty of every person to study laws and conditions, and, themselves, correct the conditions by electing, to the law making bodies, men who will represent them and meet their wishes as regards measures.

Law enforcement was the subject upon which Forgy discoursed, and he handled the subject without gloves, pointing out the many ways in which voters themselves largely are responsible for imposition of laws that are distasteful to them.

One of the principal reasons is failure of a majority to exercise the voting franchise, the speaker referring to the small percentage of voters who cast ballots, with special interests, in the final analysis, controlling in the making of laws.

"We have thousands of laws and millions of interpretations by the courts, with the result that we hardly know what the law is," Forgy said in emphasizing the declaration that crime and lawlessness in this nation is at its peak.

Asserting that dry and wet forces have admitted that the eighteenth amendment is a failure, and that enforcement is difficult because citizens of high and low degree disregard its provisions, Forgy said it is evident that something will have to be done to make it effective. He did not attempt to say what the remedy should be.

Charles Pritchard was program chairman. Vocal selections by Robert Bradford, accompanied by Irwin Doyle, provided the musical program.

POMONA WILL BE MEGGA FOR 91ST DIVISION

Veterans of Noted World War Organization Are to Meet in Annual Reunion

Several Santa Anans, former members of the famous "Pine Tree," or 91st division, in the World war, are planning to attend the annual reunion of the division, to be held in Pomona next Saturday.

The division is holding two conventions this year, one for the boys who live in the Southland, at Pomona, and another in Portland. So far as is known, no local members will attend the Portland convention.

"Powder river, let 'er buck," the battle cry of the division during the war, is still the battle cry at the conventions and echoes of it will be heard throughout the Los Angeles county fair grounds Saturday, when hundreds of veterans, members of the famous "Ninety-first" gather there.

All Members Invited. The city of Pomona, the Los Angeles County fair and the Pomona Chamber of Commerce have issued a special invitation to all former members of the "outfit," and special plans for entertainment of the veterans have been made.

Special trains will leave Los Angeles at 9 a. m., Saturday, from the Sixth street station. Registration will be made at Canasua park, where tickets and badges will be issued and lodging accommodations will be had through a committee at the American Legion hall.

Among the entertainments provided is racing at the county fair grounds and a basket dinner at the park. Ice cream and coffee will be served by the women of the American Legion auxiliary.

Good Time Assured.

"There will be no formalities, no speeches, no business, but a general good time, and the Los Angeles County fair will be an added attraction," writes C. P. Curran, of the county fair, in inviting local members to join their buddies at Pomona.

A number of members of the 364th supply company of the 91st division are living in and near Santa Ana, and have signified intention of attending the Pomona celebration.

INCOME TAX AUDIT NEARS COMPLETION

Southern California taxpayers who filed returns on their 1924 income will know just where they stand with the government by October 5.

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell announces that auditing of 1924 returns would be completed by that date and that, instead of having to wait a year or two, as has been the custom, the taxpayer would then know his liability to the government.

Usually it has taken at least a year to audit the returns and taxpayers had no idea of the amount of tax that might be hanging over their heads, owing to revision of their returns by auditors.

This year, however, a record audit has been made and the decks will be cleared by October 5, the collector said.

OUTDOOR RECREATION KEEPS COLONEL MITCHELL IN BEST OF FIGHTING TRIM

It's outdoor life that keeps Col. William Mitchell in fighting trim—whether it be to fight an enemy of the country or for a reorganization of military and naval aviation. He is fond of all kinds of sports. In the center picture, he is shown taking one of his favorite mounts over a high barrier. Since boyhood, he has been an enthusiastic angler and recently caught a giant tarpon, near Aransas Pass, Tex. To prove it, the photo at the left shows him hauling the big fish into a boat.

ATHLETICS TO BE STRESSED AT JUNIOR HIGH

Believing that the best moral, social and physical development comes to the child through the exercise of his natural play instinct, the physical education department of the Frances Willard high school is planning an extensive program of athletics, both inter-school and inter-class, it was announced today by L. W. Archer, physical director.

Thirty-five boys have chosen football, which is being practiced and played on Lincoln field every afternoon. Archer and Ralph Raitt are coaching this sport.

An indoor team is being entered in the Orange county grammar school league schedule for boys who cannot or do not wish to play football. These boys have a five-week schedule arranged with Huntington Beach, Orange, Tustin, Fullerton and Lathrop, and are being coached by J. A. Bracwell, of the industrial arts department. As soon as this championship is decided the same schools will reverse the schedule with five weeks of inter-school "touch" football.

Then for boys who do not "make" the teams representing the school, L. P. Reed, of the social science department, will conduct inter-class schedules in each sport during this season, to determine the class championship of the school.

Miss Della Franzen, girls' physical director, will coach tennis again this year. Although fall practice has not been called, boys that are hoping to win their letters in this sport are already getting in practice.

The regular "gym" period is turned into a free play and recreational period, with the physical director doing individual corrective physical instruction for those who specially need it. With this end in mind the department is getting from each parent a statement of the physical condition of each child.

"It is hoped to repeat a health program that proved beneficial last year, in which each child grades himself each morning for a period of several weeks, on a number of health rules," Archer said. "The actual grades attained are beneficial only as a matter of pride in attaining them, but the real value comes in the child being reminded of each health rule each morning and in being encouraged to try to be able to give himself credit for observing each one."

"It is hoped that this program will reach every youngster possible, for we believe that we are getting better social, moral and physical development, for it is coming through nature's method of sponsoring development, and that is play. We expect to develop good athletes, and it is good that we should. Better still, we hope to encourage the spirit of fair play, teach good sportsmanship, train boys and girls for proper use of leisure

PRINCIPLES OF ROTARY TOLD AT GATHERING

The foundation principles of Rotary, described as a philosophy of life based on the Golden Rule as applied to business, were presented at yesterday's meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club. The meeting was in charge of the Rotary education committee of the club, with the Rev. William E. Roberts, Rotarian, in charge.

The program was designed to bring home to Rotarians some of the facts concerning the history of Rotary. Past Presidents Mac O. Robbins, William H. Spurgeon Jr., J. C. Hayden and Dr. M. A. Patton, Past Vice President Walter Vandermast and President T. E. Stephenson were called on to answer rapid-fire questions concerning Rotary.

Fred Parsons, Crockett Bowers and J. C. Hayden reported on progress made in the three Rotary clubs, Anaheim, Orange and Huntington Beach, organized through the Santa Ana club.

The Rotary code of ethics was presented by Fred C. Rowland, whose guest, Ernest Crozier Phillips, read the code in dramatic manner.

The meeting closed with a brief outline of an article on boys' work in the Rotarian, the international Rotary magazine. This review was by D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school.

U. S. Senator S. M. Shorridge was present during the Rotary luncheon, as also were members of the county fair committee that had him in charge. The senator, called on for a talk, responded with a few good stories and words of greeting.

The opening class in the extension course to be offered at the Santa Ana polytechnic high school, under direction of the University of California, will be held this afternoon.

Miss Lella Watson will start teaching elementary French today, between 4 and 6 o'clock, in Room 234 of the high school administration building.

It is planned to give the full number of courses announced through the university. If sufficient demand is made, other classes not listed will be arranged. A large enrollment is expected, judging from the number of inquiries made at the high school.

The classes are being offered with university credit to persons desiring to extend their knowledge in chosen fields. Instruction will be given during a two-hour period once a week.

Two other courses will open tomorrow. Contemporary English fiction, under Mrs. Robert Northcross will be given from 4 to 6 o'clock. The beginning class in elementary Spanish, taught by Miss Watson, will be conducted from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Miss Jennie B. Lasby will hold the first astronomy class September 30, from 7 to 9 o'clock. The course in philosophy, under E. M. Nealley, will open October 1; at 7 p. m.

In what is expected to be the largest meeting of the organization in the past year, Santa Ana post, No. 131, American Legion, will install its new officers, for the coming year, at the regular meeting to be held at the Legion hall, on Birch street, tomorrow night. New officers were elected on September 10 and will serve for one year.

G. K. Scovel, prominent young attorney, will succeed Wilbur Getty as post commander. J. W. Markel will succeed Scovel as first vice-commander, and Carl Edgar will take over the position of second vice-commander, succeeding Markel. Edgar acted as sergeant-at-arms last year. Elmer Schaniel succeeds himself as adjutant and Roland Dye holds over as chaplain.

Following an entertainment program reports of delegates to the state convention at Catalina on September 17, will be heard, and this will be followed by the initiation of one of the largest classes received into the organization in the past several months. More than 50 candidates have been asked to be present for initiation, Wilbur Getty, commander, said today.

Various suggestions made by the resting board of executives will be given to the new board which met Monday night to talk over questions which probably would be brought up during the coming year before the new board.

Plans for sending at least three delegates to the national convention, to be held at Omaha, Neb., October 5 to 9 will be discussed. Two members, Paul Cassidy and H. Wilhelm have signified their intention of going to the convention and at least one other delegate is expected to attend.

In appreciation for the amount of publicity given the Santa Ana post during the past year, through the columns of The Register, J. P. Baumgartner, publisher, and T. E. Stephenson, managing editor, have been invited to attend tomorrow night's meeting as honored guests. Members of the post, headed by the life and drum corps are to march to The Register building and escort the guests to the Legion hall. A short talk from both will be expected.

"Eats" will be served at the close of the meeting.

WISNER, Neb., Sept. 23.—"Lubber," said to be the largest horse in the world, has added more than 200 pounds during the last year, thereby strengthening his claim to the heavyweight championship, according to A. E. Pouton, of this city his owner.

The giant horse stands more than 20 hands high and weighs 3000 pounds. He is 5 years old and has not completed his growth, according to Pouton.

Lubber is making the rounds at the county fairs of Nebraska this fall, but has not yet found anything in his class for competition. The horse is a cross between a Shire and Belgian. He is sound and exceedingly active for his weight. Lubber was bred and raised in Nebraska.

Stage and Screen

Gertrude Olmsted in a scene from "California Straight Ahead," current attraction at the West End theater.

WEST END THEATER

Have you ever made a motor trip across the continent?

If you have, or if you haven't, for that matter, Reginald Denny demonstrates how it should be done in "California Straight Ahead," current attraction at the West End.

With the unusual situations presented in a transcontinental motor trip, Denny and his director, Harry Pollard, have managed to make "California Straight Ahead" possibly the most entertaining of Denny's recent series of feature farce comedies.

Traveling in a palatial bungalow-on-wheels, Denny, in the role of a jilted suitor, attempts "to forget" by journeying across the country by motor. Instead of finding solitude and peace, he finds everything else including his ex-fiancee's various accidents and mishaps, a storm in which several wild animals escape and invade an auto camp, and numerous other diverting things.

From the appearance of the scenes it is evident that the transcontinental trip scenes were filmed out on the open road, for we see shots of tourist camps, and the usual caravan of cars of all descriptions loaded with odd-looking baggage, and passengers who rival them in oddness.

All in all, the picture manages to be most entertaining, and presents an unusual combination of comedy and thrills, ending with a punch which is too good to spoil by telling here.

Gertrude Olmsted makes an appealing heroine opposite the star, and the supporting cast, including Lucille Ward, Charles Gerrard, Tom Wilson, John Stepping, Fred Esmelton and Leon Nomas, add many bits of comedy to the production.

WALKER'S THEATER

A five-act vaudeville bill and a feature photoplay opens a two-day engagement today at Walker's.

On the screen will be seen an epic of the Carolina mountains, "Sun Up" with Conrad Nagel and Pauline Starke in the leading roles. "Sun Up" was one of the first pictures which Edmund Goulding has directed, and in it he shows an undeniable flare for characterization. The story is centered about a group of mountaineers, living in poverty and ignorance. Their only conception of law and order is based on the word "revenuers" and the hate of them has been inherited for generations. How they came to an understanding of their rights and the real meaning of law through the efforts of a man who broke away from the community to join the marines, and who came back with a new conception of his birthright and ideas which he tries to foist on the incredible and unwilling community, is the basis of the intense drama of the production.

Heading the vaudeville bill is Ralph and May Weyer in "Musical Moments." Their song numbers were especially written for them. They are a delightful duo whose pleasing personalities are bound to make a hit with any audience.

The Three Balmains offer a wire act that is unequalled on the vaudeville stage of today. Their feats are some of the most daring ever performed.

Morton and Dennis offer a comedy act "The Squirrel Dodgers." Their act carries beautiful scenery and with their snappy line of chatter and dances will make an everlasting impression.

Chin Chee Toy is a Chinese comedian known the world over. This feature attraction is considered by press and public to be the funniest surprising Chinese novelty on the vaudeville stage.

Closing the new bill is Gene Fowler in an act that will delight and surprise his audience. He performs feats that will hold you on the edge of your seats.

YOST THEATER

"The Bridge of Sighs," the picture closing tonight at the Yost theater, has been pictured from the story by Charles K. Harris, which he wrote around his famous song of the same name. Harris is responsible for a great number of the old-time song favorites, the most noted of which is "The Bridge of Sighs."

Four people—two fathers, a son and a daughter—are the important features in a drama that plumbs the deepest pits of life and weaves a tense story around the reckless spirit of youth and the sacrificing love that suffers for others.

Creighton Hale and Dorothy Mackaill, both popular players of nation-wide popularity, head the cast. Director Phil Rosen has selected to enact the moving melodrama of life. The spend thrift son of a wealthy father, Creighton Hale commits many indiscretions and finally many another man to prison for something that he is guilty of. He loves Dorothy Mackaill, the daughter of the wronged bookkeeper, but is forced to remain silent through circumstances. After a period of suffering for all concerned, Creighton Hale's hard-won manhood brings them happiness.

INCREASE NOTED IN GRADE SCHOOLS

usual, the Mexican schools of the city have been closed until the first week in October.

Many Mexican children are working in the groves, and it was seen soon after the opening day that there would not be enough students to warrant operating the Mexican schools at that time.

These schools will open October 1, however, and the pupils will make up during the Christmas holidays.

The Spurgeon school showed the biggest increase of the eight elementary schools, according to Cranston's report. Ninety-one more students were registered at this school on the opening day a year ago.

Because of a change in territories, a shortage of pupils was expected at the Lincoln school, Cranston reported, but that school held its attendance of last year, revealing an increase in the school population for the district.

CYPRESS FARM CENTER EXHIBIT DRAWS CROWDS

Attracting much attention in the main tent of feature displays is the beautiful exhibit of Cypress farm center, which running a close second to the Garden Grove exhibit, was awarded second prize for community exhibits.

The exhibit represents the "STAR" Farm Center of Orange county, displaying almost every product grown in the Golden state by residents of this community, the brightest spot on the Golden state, under the protection of Uncle Sam and the Stars and Stripes, according to its builders.

This booth was designed by Joseph Ritter, dirt farmer, of Cypress. It is entirely original with him. No university expert suggestions or advice were employed. The mechanical feature was handled by J. W. Fuquay, well driller of Cypress, a mechanical genius. The map of the earth was drawn by B. C. Sconce of Cypress, salesman and cartoonist. The seeds on the map, representing the land were donated by E. M. Chalmers of Cypress, who conducts a seed store in Anaheim. This seed was placed on the earth by M. M. Carpenter, a retired newspaper man of Cypress, assisted by Joseph Ritter. The flag was drawn by B. C. Sconce on wall board. The corn was placed by Joseph Ritter and his wife, and contains over 5000 grains. They were put in place one at a time with the heart side down. The stars are grains split and placed on edge. The star points were built by Ben Valentine of Cypress, building contractor. The sorghum seed covering the star was furnished by G. L. McWilliams, sorghum syrup manufacturer of Cypress. This seed was put in place by Sam Scally, poultryman. L. H. Burr, produce dealer, Sam Miller, retired rancher, O. P. Bunyard, president of the Cypress Center, and D. C. Batts former secretary, all of Cypress. The display of products was placed by the above named under the direction of their wives.

COUNTY HARBOR AUTO SHOW AT
GIVEN BOOST ORANGE COUNTY
BY SHORTRIDGE FAIR SUCCESS

United States Senator Is
Loud in Praise of Port
In Speech at Fair

With that of Samuel M. Shortridge, United States senator from California, a new name has been added to the growing list of Orange County Harbor boosters and supporters.

Speaking at the opening of the county fair yesterday afternoon, the California senator removed whatever doubt there might have been regarding his attitude in these premises. Not only did he express his unqualified approval of the proposed harbor improvement project, but furthermore assured the people of Orange county that he would support federal legislation to that end. Moreover, he added that it is the duty of the federal government to assist in the opening and development of the harbors on the west coast.

While the senator evinced a decided interest in the possibilities of the Orange county harbor, classifying it as one of the natural harbors on the coast, he intimated that he is equally interested in the development of all the California harbors. Calling attention to the vast possibilities of the Pacific with its teeming millions of people on all shores, he declared that California is no longer the back yard of the United States but the gateway of the Pacific ocean, which, he added, has become and will continue to be the highway of the world's commerce.

Directing his remarks to the occasion of his visit, the distinguished visitor paid tribute to the enterprise and progressive spirit of the people of Orange county

Nine Exhibitors Display
Latest Models in Lines
They Handle; Sales Made

Nine exhibitors in the auto show at the Orange county fair are displaying some of the latest models in the lines they represent. Decorations in the tent set the display of beautiful cars off to advantage.

According to declarations today by W. G. McConnell, manager of the Santa Ana office of the Frahm Oldsmobile company, Oldsmobile dealer, his company was the first of the dealer exhibitors to make a sale of a new car at the show.

W. J. Marshall, drapery salesman for the Chandler Furniture company, was the purchaser, his buy being a de luxe sedan. The sale was made early yesterday afternoon.

The company has several models on display, including the de luxe sedan.

More than 6000 people yesterday took a look at the new Ford touring car which is on display at the space occupied by George Dunton, Santa Ana distributor of the Ford and Lincoln. More people have looked at the new model whose achievements along agricultural and industrial development are reflected in the splendid exhibits at the fair, the speaker remarked.

Speaking of Florida, which he visited a short time ago, he referred to the peninsula state as a "pale face, mosquito ridden, alligator breeding place" not to be compared in any way with California.

Ford than at any other one car in the tent, it was declared by salesmen on duty at the tent. Besides the new touring car Dunton has a Ford truck and tractor and a Lincoln on exhibit. Efforts were being made by the company to secure a new Ford coupe for the show Thursday.

Five Models are being shown by Ray Schanhal, distributor for the new Willys-Knight and Overland cars. In the Willys-Knight line three cars are on display. A six cylinder roadster, a six cylinder sedan and a four cylinder coupe. A six cylinder Overland, de luxe sedan and a four cylinder standard sedan are the two Overland cars displayed.

Considerable interest is also centering about the Jordan line, which is exhibited at the show by the Orange County Garage company. Four models are on display, including the new five passenger, light eight sedan. The light eight is a new model placed on the market by the Jordan company.

A Playboy sport model, a brougham, and a seven passenger sedan are other eight cylinder models on display by the Jordan agency.

Utility cars are the main exhibit of the L. D. Coffing company. Dodge Brothers agents. Their display is centered about the business man's sedan. A special roadster and a special coupe are other models on display by the company, which also handles Graham Brothers trucks. Additional interest has been added to the sales department of the Dodge organization by an offer by Coffing to give the salesman who lands the first order, the best Stetson hat in town.

B. J. MacMullen, Chevrolet dealer, has a number of new models of that popular priced car displayed. A new type sedan, a touring model and a utility truck are included in his exhibit.

Hups Are Shown The Hupmobile eight line is shown by W. H. Moulton, Santa Ana distributor of the car, who has his headquarters with the Frahm Oldsmobile people. Moulton has two of the new eight cylinder machines on display, a four passenger sport roadster, and a five passenger sedan.

A Victoria model was attracting attention to lovers of the high class line of Marmons which are displayed by Hall Motors company, distributors for the Marmon and Rickenbacker. The new Victoria, a coupe, is one of the latest models and is one of the most attractive automobiles of the show. A custom built de luxe Marmon sedan is also displayed by Hall. Two of the latest type Pickenbackers are also being shown to the public at the tent. One is a two passenger de luxe coupe, eight cylinders, and the other is a four passenger brougham of the six cylinder line.

Tractor Shown Another interesting feature of the show is the Wizard, four wheel pull tractor which is being displayed by the Wizard Tractor corporation of Los Angeles.

The Cadillac Garage company made reservations of space at the show, but was unable to get cars for display and released its reservations.

According to announcement today by George Ball, sales manager for the Cadillac Garage company, the agency today received both Cadillac and Oakland models, but could not get space at the show. The cars are being displayed at the show rooms of the company, Main at Second street. The display room will be open evenings, Ball said.

Woman's Diet

"I have doctored with the best doctors in the United States. Some said one thing and some another was ailing me and all wanted to cut me open, but May's Wonderful Remedy saved me, so now I eat cabbage, sausage and anything I want to. Nothing hurts me." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

For the Colonial Type Home

—a Pioneer
Nile Blend Shingle Roof

The impressive dignity and simplicity of the Colonial design requires but a touch of color in the roof to bring out its full charm and beauty. The Nile Blend in Pioneer Shingles, or even the rich, solid Green or Blue-Black hues, provide just the right color combination.

And the beauty of Pioneer Shingles is not alone in their nonfading colors. They are rugged in texture—of long-fibre felt, asphalt coated, with a surface of crushed rock from Yosemite. A combination in the shingle, itself, that means economy, beauty, durability and fire-safety.

Sold by Lumber, Building Material and Hardware Dealers, in Red, Green, Blue-Black, Golden-Brown and four beautiful Blends...

Jury Disagrees
After waiting a week for its deliberations, the jury in the case of Harry Winchell, of Brea, was unable Monday to agree whether he was innocent or guilty of an alleged attack upon his own daughter, 15.

The jury was discharged by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams late Monday, having been out all day with no prospect of reaching a verdict.

Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mealey signified his intention of proceeding with another trial of the case, the date of which will be fixed Friday.

Sues for $5320
M. B. Duke, of Van Nuys, was plaintiff today in a court action brought against J. C. Vaz, of Buena Park, in which Duke makes demands aggregating $5320, based on two notes and a check which he declares Vaz issued to him without having sufficient funds for its payment.

Venue Change Granted
Mrs. Frances Meserve's suit for divorce against Charles G. Meserve, of Santa Ana, was transferred from Los Angeles superior court today. Meserve was granted a motion for change of venue.

Mrs. Meserve asks for a decree, custody of their five children, who are now in their father's care, and an unstated amount of alimony. She also seeks a restraining order to prevent her husband from molesting her, or from disposing of funds which she claims they have on deposit in a local bank.

Extreme cruelty is charged in the complaint. Mrs. Meserve is alleged to have threatened her life on various occasions. Meserve is employed by a local seed company. Attorney T. T. Clark is defending him in the divorce proceedings.

Attorney H. M. Dalton, Los Angeles, is counsel for Mrs. Meserve.

Employment of Orange county as representative of Orange county at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce building, was tentatively agreed upon by the county supervisors late yesterday. The matter of arranging for Mrs. Vilas, as representative of Orange county, was referred to Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent. Dr. Slabaugh told the supervisors that Mrs. Vilas could be secured for a salary of $55 a month. She has been in charge of the Stanislaus county exhibit for several years and is regarded as having exceptional ability for the work. Dr. Slabaugh said. Backs Is Witness
County Clerk J. M. Backs was called to Long Beach today as a witness in Long Beach municipal court, where Fred N. Crippen, of Anaheim, is charged with a criminal offense.

Backs was instructed to bring files of a divorce suit filed in Orange county superior court by Crippen against his wife, Rose N. Crippen.

The nature of the charge against Crippen was not made known here, but officials expressed the opinion that it might be bigamy, because the divorce case files were wanted as evidence. The papers filed by Mrs. Crippen in answer to her husband's divorce petition charged that he had married another woman while still legally wed to her.

Crippen started divorce proceedings against Mrs. Crippen in court here several months ago. The action is still pending.

HARBOR LEAGUE MOGULS MEET TONIGHT

Billy Evans Says

Last year there were but eight major league hurlers who reached the 20-game class in victories. Each circuit supplied four.

In the American Walter Johnson, Herb Pennock, Hollis Thurston and Joe Shanteau made the grade. "Dizzy" Vance, Burleigh Grimes, Carl Mays and Wilbur Cooper turned the trick in the National. Brooklyn was the only club to place more than one in the circle, getting a pair.

Johnson topped the junior organization in triumphs with 23. Vance led the National with 23, one of the best achievements in recent seasons. Grimes had 22, Pennock 21 and the rest just got by with 20 wins.

The performances of Thurston and Shanteau were especially noteworthy in that they mounted the heights while hurling for second division outfits.

The 1924 campaign, indeed, was one of the leanest in some time when it came to producing 20-game winners.

MORE THIS SEASON
This year things are somewhat different. For from present indications about an even dozen are apt to break into the select class. Included in the group are six from each circuit, namely, Johnson, Coveleskie, Lyons, Rommel, Reuther and Harris as American league representatives. And Vance, Yde, Meadows, Morrison, Rixey and Donohue of the National wheel.

Some of them have already reached the double decade department with the others just a few triumphs away.

But of the 1924 bunch only two, Johnson and Vance, stuck up as repeaters. Each has followed one good year with another, though Vance got away to a rather bad start.

The other six are far in arrears of their splendid records of a year ago, however.

BASE THEFT HONORS
Three clubs are waging a merry battle for base-stealing honors. They are Pittsburgh, Washington and Chicago.

The Pirates are at present out in front and seem likely to stay there. They have almost doubled the total of their nearest rival in the old circuit. But any club boasting such sack-snatchers as Carey and Cuyler ought to be leading the procession.

Washington has a slight edge on the White Sox and with Eddie Collins out of the game has been pulling away of late. The Senators are still a few hassoicks behind the Pirates, however.

Carey and Cuyler are topping the old circuit in individual efforts on the sacks with Johnny Mostil and Sam Rice showing the way in the Johnsonian ensemble.

HAGEN MANAGES TO WIN FROM WATROUS

OLYMPIA FIELD COUNTRY CLUB, Chicago, Sept. 23.—Sixteen survivors in the Professional Golfers' association started play today in the second round of match play still handicapped by weather that was not well suited for golf.

Temperatures were so low the players tramped over the courses with hands in their hip pockets and the wind was so treacherous many well started drives landed in the rough.

Walter Hagen, defending his professional championship, had to call upon all his reserve yesterday to win the feature match of the first round from Al Watrous, the freckled young pro from Grand Rapids.

Santa Ana Boy May Succeed Thomas As Troy Grid Captain

FAY THOMAS

After he admitted taking money for playing baseball in the East, Fay Thomas, captain and star tackle of the University of Southern California football team, was ruled ineligible. Trojan veterans will elect a new captain sometime this week. One of those mentioned for the honor is Newt Stark, former Santa Ana high school player and now end on the Los Angeles eleven. Stark is regarded as one of the greatest defensive ends on the Coast. He would make an ideal captain.

Bowling News

CHAMPION BOWLER HERE FOR EXHIBITION

Jimmy Smith, world's champion bowler, arrived here today for his exhibition matches at the A. and B. alleys. Smith will meet L. R. Crawford of Santa Ana in a three-game series, beginning at 8 o'clock tonight. At 9 o'clock he will oppose George Theodore in another three-game match. The champion was to go against Charlie Zimmer in a match this afternoon.

Holder of a 243 average for his last 30 games and a 211 average for his last 700 games, Smith is recognized as the greatest bowler that ever threw a mineralite down the skidways. He has shot 16 perfect scores of 300. The city's three-game series record is 749 and was made by M. Zlockovich of Los Angeles last winter. Smith will endeavor to shatter this record.

WOMEN'S TEAM TO BOWL MEN'S QUINTETTE

The first women's five-player bowling team ever organized in Santa Ana will meet a picked team of men at the Broadway academy tonight at 8 o'clock. Members of the women's aggregation are Mesdames Patterson, Andersen, Shoemaker and Miller and Miss Soest.

SOLON LEADER HURT; MAY BE OUT OF SERIES

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Chances of the Washington Senators to repeat their 1924 world's series victory diminished slightly today as manager and second baseman Bucky Harris was forced out of the game with a badly lacerated finger on his throwing hand.

While the youthful Harris probably will be able to return to his customary position before the first game of the October classic, his temporary loss may prove a menace to the morals of the champions in the closing days of the season. The manager was spiked as he slid into third base in yesterday's game with Cleveland. He takes his place on the bench with two other stars of the Senators, forced aside by injuries, Roger Peckinpaugh, with an injured ankle, and Walter Johnson, with a strained leg tendon.

The Pirates are in a position to make the National League championship a mathematical certainty today. If they triumph over the Phillies this afternoon the Pirates could throw away their remaining seven games and still emerge victorious, even if the Giants should win their remaining ten.

The Senators must win a day or two to clinch their rights to the pennant. They need three victories out of 11 starts if the Athletics should win their last ten games in a row.

Harris had reached second base on a double and went to third on Judge's single. Attempting to steal home, he was caught half way by Myatt, Cleveland catcher, and Ho-dapp, third baseman, and tried to steal back to third. As he took the slide, he thrust out his right hand to touch the bag, with the result that the middle finger was caught under the heel spikes of Myatt. The spikes tore a cruel gash in the finger from the nail to the knuckle, exposing the bone. Harris suffered intensely from the injury and was carried off the field.

"Bucky" had the same finger injured a short time ago and it was swollen greatly beyond its normal size when he entered the game today.

SANTA ANA MIDGETS LOSE INDOOR MATCH

After 11 long innings of great indoor baseball, the Long Beach All-Stars took the measure of the Santa Ana Midgets, 6 to 5, at Poly field last night. The visitors broke a tie that had existed since the seventh when they marked twice in the first of the eleventh and though the locals staged a rally that netted one score they were unable to again tie the count. Tommy Hitt twirled for Santa Ana. The box score:

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's Hero—Joe Glard, youthful hurler of the St. Louis Browns, who pitched his mates to a 1 to 0 shutout over the Athletics.

The Cubs were forced to go 12 innings but they succeeded in dropping the Robins for their ninth straight defeat, 2 to 0.

The Pirates took their eighth game in a row, clubbing three Philadelphia pitchers to win 14 to 4.

Owen Carroll pitched his first full game and won one of the games in a double header which Detroit took from Boston, 11 to 8 and 1 to 2.

The New York-St. Louis and Boston-Cincinnati games were rained out.

REV. RAY BUKER

It's the Rev. Buker nowadays. Instead of just Ray Buker, as you doubtless better recall him in the years he starred on the track for Bates college and later as a member of the Illinois A. C. He's now pastor of a church at Sabattus, Me. But he still does a bit of middle distance running to keep in shape.

Bear Hunting In Alaska

(These articles which were written by George Briggs, Santa Ana sportsman and big game hunter, will appear from day to day on the sport page of The Register. They have to do with Mr. Briggs' recent expedition to Alaska and are published in diary form just as the author wrote them while in the great North country.)

14th.—Crossed Hoona Sound and ran into pretty little bight with lots of green stuff but not the kind bear like. Nine deer one within 20 feet. Aled at 10 o'clock, up this morning at 6:30 and with breakfast over, we are headed up Hoona Sound. While in every bay we have seen the Siwash or black duck, in some numbers, it remained for Hoona Sound and today to show us them in quantity—here by the thousands, literally alive with them.

Bear Signs Found

15th.—Ran into another uncharted and unnamed little nook, went ashore and found where one bear, in traveling, had dug roots or mice, watched until 9:10 and again this morning, eight deer—around us and at this hour—8:30—have just an anchored across from Pattisna and going ashore for look. Found fresh track and Bailey says "stick" so here we stick while he is glued to lookout place. He is most attentive under these conditions.

We are anchored where we came near losing the Old Pacific C two years ago and across the bay from where we had such fun with the mink which always kept about six feet in front of us. Bedding out of sun, bath and change of clothing for both and Bailey has stood on his head, almost literally, and a painted stern name on Ruth—a good job.

16th.—Our hunt last evening and this morning did us no good—saw three deer within 70 yards. Bailey doesn't hunt these places as I would, doesn't necessarily mean he is wrong and I am right and over this we disagree. One fresh sign, whether anything in way of feet to make bear return, tempts for ages that the safest and eventually, the surest way, is to wait for Mr. Bear. Now on way to Hoona trolling for King salmon.

17th.—No salmon yesterday but eleven solo, saw 13 deer, 32 mallards, 18 geese and many beautiful margansers. Two hair seal playing near us. In at 9:45, delightfully beautiful at that hour. Out with

HARRIS NAMES TEAM TO OPEN AGAINST FROSH

A tentative lineup that the Santa Ana junior college eleven will use in its practice game against the Occidental college frosh here Friday at 3 p. m. was announced today by Coach Graham Harris.

All the reserve strength of the college aggregation is expected to be thrown against the visitors. Coach Harris expects that a real test will be given his squad in the encounter.

Already this season, the Oxy frosh team has played several games. The local squad, however, will be under fire for the first time.

Harris has been putting his men through regular scrimmage each night this week and he is confident that the squad will put up a stiff fight.

Dan Cook will bark the signals for the team, the coach indicated. In the backfield Herbert ("Ebb") Ebersole will start as fullback with John Lutz and Blanchard Beatty tilling at the halfback positions. Coach Harris will be ready to throw Adelmo McLane or James Smith in the fracas as backfield men at any time.

Some of the players Harris is sure will get in the play are Robert Lancaster and Charles Webster, ends; Ross Fields, tackle; and Bill Young, center, besides others.

A new recruit reported for football yesterday, Arnulfo ("Montezuma") Ramirez, former Santa Ana high school linesman, was given a suit. Now Coach Harris has 23 men, more than two complete teams regularly reporting for workouts.

POLY VARSITY SCRIMMAGES SECOND STRINGERS

"Chuck" Winterburn's Santa Ana high school varsity looked good in practice last night—and yet it didn't.

After an hour's signal drill, the Poly chieftain ordered his second string eleven to line up against the firsts for 20 minutes of scrimmage. Although the varsity was able to gain almost at will against the lighter substitutes there was no little amount of fumbling by the backs and Winterburn realized better than anyone else that his squad has a long way to go before it will be ready for a tough opponent.

Roy Schoettler, but recently shifted to right end on the varsity looked to be the best ball packer of the bunch when he was given the ball on end-around play. Captain Ray Dawson also gave a good account of himself. English, Durkee and Walker, the other backs, were able to advance the ball but their work was marked by frequent fumbling.

The team lined up as follows: Schoettler and Melinger, ends; Reister and Stark, tackles; English and Benson, guards; Siegel, center; Durkee, quarter; English and Walker, halves, and Dawson, full.

SHORT SPORTS

PRINCETON, N. J.—Princeton's first touchdown of the season was scored here yesterday in a scrimmage against the scrubs by Jake Slagle, who showed excellent early season form.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—In 25 minutes of intensive scrimmaging the Yale varsity eleven failed to score yesterday against the scrubs. In the second scrimmage of the year, the scrubs held the varsity for downs four times.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif.—The Stanford varsity football squad trotted out for practice today with a different appearance. Captain Ernest Never being the only veteran left in the first string backfield, Mike Murphy and Don Hill are now at half.

OAKLAND, Calif.—St. Mary's has cancelled its opening football game Sunday with the Navy at San Francisco, and instead will open the following Saturday at Ewing field, San Francisco, against Whittier.

NEW YORK—Mickey Walker's victory in the Shade boat race was a hot decision, despite all adverse criticism. William Muldon of the state athletic commission, declared here.

Famous S. A. Twins Play On Different Elevens This Year

For the first time in their football careers, Elliott and Everett Best, famous Santa Ana twins, will play on different teams this season.

George Elliott Best (above) has returned to the Santa Ana junior college where he is sure to hold down a guard post. Robert Everett Best (below) has entered the Oregon Agricultural College. The twins look so much alike that even they get mixed up as to "who's who."

BASEBALL MEN MAY SET DATE TO BEGIN RACE

Expect at Least Ten Clubs To Send Representatives And Post Entrance Fees

A definite date when the Orange County Harbor league will begin its sixth race for championship laurels probably will be set tonight when representatives from a large number of baseball teams in this vicinity meet at the Victor Walker sporting goods store here to reorganize the winter association.

At least 10 teams are expected to apply for franchises. Three and perhaps four of these will be from Santa Ana. Anaheim may enter two fast teams and La Habra undoubtedly will make a bid for the county championship. Cypress is looked on as a certain starter. Tustin, Garden Grove, Westminster, El Modena, Orange, Huntington Beach and Irvine are other possible entrants.

While tonight's pow-wow is supposed to be nothing more than a preliminary session to determine how many clubs intend to post entry fees and to elect permanent officers, it is possible that the moguls may go far enough to set a definite Sunday when the race will be started, to appoint a schedule-making committee and to draft other business relative to the championship campaign.

President Walker issued a request today that only one representative from each club, he possessing power to act for his club, attend the gathering.

23 ENROLL IN PRINTING CLASS AT POLY HIGH

Twenty-three students are enrolled in printing classes at the Santa Ana high school shop, according to a statement made to the Santa Ana board of education yesterday by Principal D. K. Hammond, of the high school.

The print shop is an added facility in the high school, and members of the board expressed gratification that its work so far had proven successful.

Permission was granted the student body of the school, at the board meeting yesterday, to purchase a typesetting machine on time. Money earned through use of the machine is expected to pay the installments.

It was explained that much of the composition for the school print shop has been done outside the shop, because of lack of a typesetting machine. Hammond asserted that approximately 80 per cent of the cash paid for composition under the old system could be used in meeting payments on the machine.

The student body is held responsible for payments on the machine, which cost more than $4000. A report on the finances and business of the print shop is to be made to the board of education each month, according to an agreement made at the meeting yesterday.

The Junior College News, the Generator, high school publication, and papers of the junior high schools will be published in the school print shop each week, and the various schools will pay for the work done. This amount of money will be more than enough to pay for the new machine, it was explained.

Eskimos Engage In Fox Industry

NOME, Sept. 23.—Frang De DuFresne, in charge of the Seward peninsula for the U. S. biological survey, reports that Eskimos are taking a full part in developing the farming of foxes and the marketing of their pelts into a bounteous Alaska industry.

The south side of the peninsula is on Bering sea and the north on the Arctic ocean. On the north coast line, white men destroyed the Eskimo livelihood by annihilating the whales and burning the driftwood.

The Eskimos have taken to white foxes, and some families are making incomes of $2,000 annually. From catching wild foxes and selling the furs, the natives have gone on to developing simple ranches.

The women do most of the work—it's the aboriginal way—but, DuFresne pointed out, families threatened with extinction are beginning to thrive, though father sits around the cabin that has replaced the igloo.

Irrigation Men Plead Not Guilty

EL CENTRO, Calif., Sept. 23.—Four directors of the Imperial Irrigation district, accused of malfeasance in office, pleaded not guilty when they were arraigned here before Judge I. S. Thompson, Los Angeles. The court set October 21 as the date for trial.

Arguments on validity of a petition demanding recall of District Att. Ernest Utley followed Judge Thompson's ruling.

Julia Lathrop

Julia Lathrop Junior High school started the new school term on September 14 with an enrollment of 555. School opened Monday morning with a short assembly. H. G. Nelson, principal, briefly outlined the day's procedure and classes started accordingly.

The first week was devoted principally to arrangements of programs and requirements of the students. Work was neglected, however, Miss Carothers boasts an avenue of trees along the wall of her art room. She has connected memories of summer vacations with the fall work most happily. Miss Sinke of the home economics department is taking advantage of California's abundant fruit season by introducing fruit canning to her ninth grade students. The mixed glee club under Miss Cornell's direction shows one of the largest enrollments in the music department. It has a membership of 100.

Thursday of last week, at the first full period assembly, Fred Forgy gave a very pointed talk on the constitution of the United States. He emphasized the responsibility of future citizens in upholding this document and the government for which it stands. The students contributed to the assembly through a piano solo by Bernice Davis and a violin solo by Bernard Sharpey.

The latter part of the program was devoted to a demonstration on the typewriter by Miss Marion Rhoades. Miss Rhoades is one of the fastest typists in the world. She varied her speed from 25 or 30 words a minute, showing her audience with what ease and efficiency she controls her fingers and machine.

Reports of summer vacations from several of the teachers revealed an extensive range of travel. Miss Bemus stayed near home at Laguna Beach, where she has a new summer home. Miss Chalmers did not return to her home in Boston this year, but attended the University of California, Southern Branch, where she took some physical education work. Miss Cornell went to University of Southern California and Miss Sinke drove to San Francisco to attend the National Home Economics convention.

Miss Laffea and Miss Kline attended the Berkeley summer session and Miss Kline extended her trip to the Canadian Rockies, returning by way of Des Moines, Iowa. Miss Henderson and the Misses Thrasher spent a camper's summer in Zion National Park, Utah, and at Crater Lake. Miss Carothers and Miss Bruner went north to Fallen Leaf lodge at Lake Tahoe. Everyone has returned with lots of energy and enthusiasm for the coming year's work.

S. A. STUDENTS WIN 4 AWARDS AT STATE FAIR

Santa Ana high school students won four awards in mechanical drawing at the California State fair, in Sacramento, according to word returned by George Duncan, head of the high school mechanical arts department.

First prize for the intersection of solids was won by Donald Rinehart. Charles Grey received second for a drawing on origraphic projections. Miss Ella Armstrong won seconds for machine detail and architectural design.

The California State Agricultural society awarded the prize ribbon. High school students from all over the state submitted work. At the Orange County fair, the designs are to be displayed with other work of high school students in industrial lines. There the prize drawings will compete for other awards.

During the present school year, the instruction at the high school is to be arranged in such manner as to have ready a complete set of drawings to enter at the next state fair, Duncan said. Much work done by students last year was not sufficiently complete to be entered at the fair, it was explained.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The "automobile poor"—people who have a flivver and nothing else—came in for their share of consideration before the National Conference of Catholic Charities in Washington recently.

Plenty of families—whole families—spend all their time wandering aimlessly around the country in their cars, with no other home, living on handouts of food and traveling on handouts of gasoline, Miss Louise McGuire, of the Catholic Service school, said.

Some of these folk stop occasionally, Miss McGuire added, while the head of the family does a little work, but many of them are constantly on the go.

At least, the father of a family of "auto tramps" doesn't get much of a job, for he won't stay by it. The vagabond instinct is too strong in him and his dependents. As soon as he's earned a few dollars, they're on their way.

This new kind of gypsy is so recently developed that we haven't realized we have it with us and it is almost entirely unstudied as yet.

Probably Miss McGuire, whose attention was attracted to it through concern for the future of children growing up such utter vagrants, is the best authority relative to the breed. Without going into figures, for no statistics are available, she declares it numerous and increasing—a grave problem soon to be met.

The treasury department, which keeps hammering away on the idea of the futility of federal tax reduction if state and local taxation is to continue to increase, has figures to prove how serious the situation is.

Three years ago, when federal taxes were higher than they are now and other taxes were not so high, of all taxes collected in the country the central government took 59 per cent and state and local governments 41. Last year, the federal government took 28 per cent and state and local governments 72.

This, according to treasury officials, is partly because federal taxes have been coming down, but it is much more because state and local taxes have been moving up.

Of course, the state and local figures are an average—some

Some of Dr. Folts' Soap for Reducing and apply it night and morning on fat parts. Mrs. W. B. writes us that five weeks she faithfully used this soap with the most wonderful results. This is all she did. Every night she made a good lather with Dr. Folts' Soap, applied it on her bust, hips and double chin, left the lather on a few minutes, then washed off. Her measurements before starting this simple, easy way were as follows:

Bust, 33. Today Bust is 32. Hips, 44. Today Hips are 44. She says that she had a double chin which made her look years older. It has entirely vanished. Dr. Folts' Soap has already helped a great many people to take off excess fat, although in the past it had only been made in a limited quantity by the Doctor himself, who kept his formula for his private practice. Lately it has been put up in convenient soap form, and can be had from most leading drug or department stores. No diet or exercises are necessary. parts of the country are worse than others, but those where there hasn't been an advance are few and far between.

Officials point out, too, that the individual who walks into a local treasurer's office and pays his tax generally isn't the one who carries the load. He usually passes his burden along.

Every merchant, for instance, adds his taxes in with his overhead, making prices higher on everything. The consumer, who may not realize he's being taxed, foots the bill.

It's much more important for his doctor to keep the aviator in prime physical condition, so that he won't have accidents, than to patch him up afterward, remarks Maj. L. H. Bauer, of the army medical corps.

The major quotes British air service records: The first year of the war 60 per cent of their aviation fatalities were due to the pilots' physical defects. By careful selection and care of flyers, they cut this down to 12 per cent.

"It may be interesting," says Major Bauer, "to know that of Annapolis, who are supposed to be of more than average physical make-up, less than half are physically qualified to fly."

Lost Indians Are Sought In North

MT. SHASTA, Calif., Sept. 23.—Dr. C. Hart Merriam, research associate of Smithsonian institution, has written the forest service requesting information on the Indian tribe which inhabited this section of the state.

He states that members of both the Pit River tribe and the Winoon tribe tell of a different tribe living in the neighborhood of Dunsmuir, on the Sacramento river, the country club on the McCloud, to Mt. Shasta and Black Fox.

In his research, he has been unable to find a survivor of this tribe. However, recently he has learned that there are three surviving members, two sisters, one named Lottie, who is thought to be living in the vicinity of Dana, or between Battle and Dana. One of the last headquarters of the tribe is said to have been on Squaw Creek.

IRRIGATION MEN TAKE TITLE TO CUYAMACA LAND

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 23.—Directors of the La Mesa, Lemon Grove and Spring Valley Irrigation district, at a meeting here last night, formally took over the properties of the Cuyamaca Water company from Col. Ed Fletcher and C. F. Stern, the contract calling for payment of $1,100,000, plus the cost of recent improvements, estimated to aggregate $100,000.

The properties taken over include the famous strip at El Capitan, the subject of a condemnation suit between the district and the city of San Diego this summer in Santa Ana, where a jury valued the property at $600,000. The verdict has since been set aside as excessive. Other units of the Cuyamaca water system are the Murray and Cuyamaca lakes, the El Monte pumping plant, the flume from the diverting dam on the San Diego river to Murray lake, and an option on a dam site in Mission gorge.

Colonel Fletcher reserves hunting, fighting and boating rights on Cuyamaca lake and upon Fletcher and El Capitan lakes, if they are formed. The reservations are effective for 15 years, the district to receive one-fourth of the revenues therefrom.

The cost of litigation in connection with El Capitan dam site and water rights on San Diego river will be borne by the Fletcher interests up to the time of signing the contract, thereafter by the irrigation district.

Attorney Frederick Stearns, counsel for the district, reported last night that a bill of exceptions is being prepared for filing against the El Capitan condemnation decree allowed in Santa Ana and the later court order setting aside the valuation verdict.

President J. H. Halley resigned last night as head of the La Mesa, Lemon Grove and Spring Valley Irrigation district and was succeeded by Vice President Henry A. Hall. Halley will remain temporarily as a director.

The NEW MARMON now becomes an even Greater Automobile because of these new, important and far-reaching developments exclusive in Marmon at no increase in price

Marmon now introduces what we believe to be the foremost and soundest contribution of the year to motor car engineering... By a new and ingenious application of proved principles, Marmon engineers have endowed the New Marmon with a magna-power quality which attains a high watermark in motor car performance.

These amazing results are accomplished by an extremely advantageous combination of Double-Fire Ignition and the efficient New Marmon gas-intake system, in the proved Marmon valve-in-head type of engine.

Even with ordinary grades of gasoline, every atom is vaporized—is exploded between two fires—and the combustion accomplished instantly and completely. Naturally, this system is productive of greater fuel economy.

The Three-Way (exclusively Marmon) Oil Purifier increases the life of the engine by preserving the lubricating properties of the oil. It automatically removes all forms of extraneous matter from the oil—both solid and liquid. It distills—and passes back to the crankcase, only clean, pure oil. All vapors distilled out of the oil are returned to the combustion chamber and are consumed. It does all of these things automatically, in a simple, fool-proof manner.

New Self-Lubricator Marmon engineers have gone even further to provide a car which mechanically and automatically does things which ordinarily would be sources of annoyance and expense. By means of the Self-Lubricator all of the wearing surfaces or bearings of the chassis which require frequent attention are now oiled simply by pushing a conveniently-located pedal.

New Body Styles There is a wide range of body styles, including a line of four luxurious Standard Closed Cars—now at exactly open car price. These include two new body styles—the Victoria Coupe, for four passengers, and the Two-Passenger Coupe. Also the Standard Seven-Passenger Sedan only $75 more than the open car, and a comprehensive selection of DeLuxe models. All models are extraordinarily roomy, richly upholstered and finished in colors refreshingly new and different.

KIDDIES TO AID REBUILDING OF OLD IRONSIDES

Santa Ana school children will be given an opportunity to help in the work of reconstruction and salvaging of the historical U. S. frigate Constitution, known throughout history as "Old Ironsides," through an agreement reached yesterday afternoon by the board of education and the Santa Ana lodge of Elks.

The Elks throughout the nation have started a movement to collect $500,000 during the week of October 19, to salvage "Old Ironsides," which now lies fast deteriorating in Boston harbor.

Elks conceived the idea of restoring the boat for historical purposes and expect to raise the money by donations from the millions of school children throughout the land. No quotas have been set but all offerings will be received.

A button bearing a picture of the frigate will be given to each school child who donates any amount of money, from a few pennies to a dollar, and through these small individual donations, the Elks expect to restore the ship and to make it seaworthy.

Built in 1794 and launched in 1797, the ship saw active service in the U. S. navy for almost 84 years, and fought in some of the greatest of early sea battles for this country. From 1861 to 1882 it was in service as a training ship.

Our Neighbors

POMONA—Contemplating a $40,000 improvement program in the Pomona yard, the Union Pacific railroad has begun a program which will give Pomona one of the best yards on the system between Salt Lake and Los Angeles. Plans for this project were announced some time ago and the first actual work was undertaken here with the crossing improvement on Palmare street. Pomona is recognized by the Union Pacific as one of the largest citrus shipping points on the system between Salt Lake and Los Angeles. The largest percentage increase in passenger business of California cities over the previous year is credited to Pomona by the railroad officials, also. The Union Pacific has instituted a mammoth construction program in Southern California as well as an extensive publicity campaign to direct the attention of easterners toward California.

HIGHLAND—With the dry season virtually at an end, a check made among fruit growers here today disclosed the fact that there has been an abundance of irrigation water throughout the summer. Though the rainfall for the 1924-1925 season was four inches below normal, the total being 12.30 inches, the growers pointed out that this fall was equal to that of any district in the Southland, with but few possible exceptions, and was greater than that had in most citrus districts.

PASADENA—Filing a brief Saturday in the Pacific Electric rate case, the city has set forth its arguments to the state railway commission in the application of the transportation company for permission to raise its fares in Pasadena from 6 to 8 cents on both bus and electric lines. City Attorney James H. Howard, who prepared the city's brief, declares that Pasadena has not agreed to a modification of the present transportation system and is doing everything possible to keep the rates down. The city asks that the state board submit its findings that the municipality may have a chance to determine what course to pursue.

SAN DIEGO—A high total of 37,117 needy and unfortunate persons were assisted by the social service department of San Diego's Salvation Army during the year ended Aug. 30, according to report made by Commandant Edward F. Baldwin. The report shows that the organization has had an unusually busy year in its charitable work. Garments given away by the department during the year numbered 2895. A total of 609 pairs of shoes were donated. The total number of persons benefiting by gifts of both was 2748.

LONG BEACH—Long Beach has achieved one of its major harbor goals. The dredging of the inner harbor channels and turning basin on part of the $5,000,000 harbor bonds voted a year and a half ago, now is virtually finished. According to the records of the harbor department furnished to City Manager Windham, whose directing genius laid out and supervised the work, the inner harbor contracts are now between 98 and 99 per cent completed.

ONTARIO—There are now seven active scout troops in Ontario and two in Upland, all of them with big plans for the coming year, according to Lex Lucas, scout director. Definite plans for the winter's activities promise that this will be a big year for the boys of Ontario and Upland in every way. The schedule for October starts with troop reunions for every troop—good time get-togethers for all. Then the first scout leaders' training course will start, with an opportunity for all working with the boys to learn and practice the best known methods of boys' work.

RIVERSIDE—A comprehensive campaign is getting under way for registration of Riverside voters in anticipation of the biennial municipal election November 17, when a mayor and three councilmen will be chosen and a total of $500,000 bond issues will be decided. To stimulate the movement, a letter is being sent out today by the chamber of commerce, signed by President E. B. Criddle, to service clubs, Woman's clubs, Wednesday club and Advertising club, heads of fraternal organizations and pastors of churches, encouraging their active participation in the effort to get all voters of the community to register.

LOS ANGELES The Once Over

SLOT-MACHINE VIOLATORS TO BE ARRESTED.—After being informed by City Attorney Stephens that there is no injunction in force restraining police from arresting violators of the slot-machine law, Chief of Police Heath yesterday issued instructions to police to make arrests in all cases where they found the law to be violated. There are said to be hundreds of slot machines in Los Angeles operating apparently in open defiance of the law against paying off with money. City Attorney Stephens stated that the temporary injunction obtained by attorneys for a slot-machine distributor was dissolved August 25, and that no new injunction has been granted since.

IMPROVEMENT OF TRAFFIC CONDITIONS PLANNED.—Renewed action toward arriving at a decision on improving Los Angeles street-railway, automobile and interurban facilities was forecast yesterday when David R. Faries, chairman of a committee on rapid transit from the chamber of commerce, appointed six committeemen to work with him. Mr. Faries' action was taken on suggestion of George I. Cochran, chairman of the chamber's committee on city and county highway planning, of which Faries is vice chairman. He said he contemplated calling the first meeting of the committee at an early date.

WATER BUREAU AIMS TO PREVENT TEARING UP OF STREETS.—In order to prevent the tearing up of newly completed street pavement for the purpose of installing new and larger water mains to meet the increasing needs of consumers, the municipal water bureau will expend this fiscal year from its revenues more than $2,250,000 in the replacement of service lines along streets about to be newly paved, it was revealed in a report just made by Chief Engineer Muholand. This expense, it was explained, does not cover the cost of extensions and general betterments to the water distributing system, but only the work of financing water line replacements ahead of new pavements.

PARADE FOR VIADUCT OPENING.—With final plans laid yesterday for the celebration to mark the opening of the new Ninth street viaduct next Saturday, it was determined by committeemen that a feature of the event will be an old Spanish parade hailing from the Plaza district, in which the descendants of California's early dons will participate. Contrasting will be a parade from the extreme eastern section of the city and its suburbs, in which the manufacturing development of that region will be exemplified.

COUNCIL LEASES OFFICES FOR DEPARTMENTS.—Preparations for razing the Bullard building at 156 North Spring street, which is located on the site of the new $5,000,000 city hall, the city council's finance committee approved of an appropriation of $9020 to prepare offices in the International bank building at Temple and Spring streets, and the Equitable building at First and Spring streets, for the use of the city departments now in the Bullard building and in the overcrowded city hall.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS TO GET PROMPT TREATMENT.—Seeking prompt emergency treatment for injured without waiting to carry them to the General Receiving hospital, the city council, at the suggestion of Councilman R. S. Sparks, instructed Police Surgeon Goodrich to report on arrangements to be made with private hospitals and the cost of such service. Doctor Goodrich will confer with City Attorney Stephens on the necessary ordinance to put the new plan into effect. Council members cited instances where lives of injured citizens have been lost or jeopardized by the time required to convey the injured persons to the General Receiving hospital.

TUNNELS FIRM ORDERED TO RETURN FUNDS.—State Corporation Commissioner Daugherty has ordered the Tunnels Transportation company, which was thrown into the lime-light recently by the Fitzpatrick bribe case, to repay approximately $1800 received from stock sales to the seven original subscribers. The order was made at a public hearing on the application of William R. Hodges jr., vice president and general manager, for permission to return the funds. The company was given until Monday at 2 p. m. to file a certified statement that the money had been returned.

Springdale

SPRINGDALE, Sept. 23.—Postponement of the opening of the Springdale school, which was scheduled to open last Monday, was made necessary as the new building which is under construction was not in readiness for occupancy. Delay on the plastering and plumbing contracts is the direct cause of delay and some of the exterior work also remains uncompleted. It is expected that next Monday will see the opening of the school, barring unforeseen delays.

Mrs. Sim Ten Eyck, her son Floyd, and her daughter Doris, returned Sunday from Webb Island, near Stockton, where they have been visiting a month with Mrs. Ten Eyck's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Clemens. Frank Houser has entered junior college in Santa Ana. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Blodgett and family, of Los Angeles, were entertained as Sunday guests at the Leonard Moldal home. Mr. Blodgett and Mrs. Moldal are brother and sister. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham and son were evening visitors at Puente, where they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gray, cousins of Mr. Graham. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young returned Sunday evening from San Diego, where they were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Standish, who until a few months ago were local residents. Mrs. Standish being principal of the Springdale school the past two terms. Mr. and Mrs. Young brought back word of the sudden death of Mrs. Standish's father, Judge Smith, which occurred during their visit at the Standish home. Judge Smith gave the address at the graduating exercises of the Springdale school in June and while a visitor at his daughter's home during that week, won the friendship of many local residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Edwards had as Sunday guests, Mrs. Edward's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Winnie Ward and daughter, Bernice, of Huntington Park, and Charles Houser, of Los Angeles.

The threshing of beans in the local community is well under way in the fields. The Golden West thresher belonging to H. T. Dunning and one belonging to H. Mendonhall, of San Geronimo, are harvesting the crops here this year.

Mrs. Charles Walton and children, Keith and Winifred, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Walton's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Crane and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham and son, and Mrs. Crane's brother, Mr. Wentzel and family, who are house guests at the Crane home since their recent arrival from Iowa to make California their home, spent Sunday at Orange County park.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham visited at Puente with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lyons.

Double the Mileage at Half the Cost

Only a few years ago a 32 x 4 cord tire listed over $50.00. Today, you can buy the highest quality 32 x 4 tire—a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord—for about $26.00

Last spring crude rubber cost tire makers around 40 cents a pound. Today, it is over 90 cents a pound.

It was not so long ago that 7,500 miles represented the average life of a cord tire, while today, 15,000 miles—and more—is only the usual performance for a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

Due to large, concentrated production, specialized machinery and simplified factory methods, together with economical distribution, Firestone is able to keep tire prices low—no matter where crude rubber prices go.

And, because of special Firestone processes, chief among which is Gum-Dipping, motorists are getting thousands of extra miles by using Gum-Dipped Cords.

AVOCADO MEN TO GATHER IN CARLSBAD SOON

A joint meeting of the California Avocado association and the Carlsbad Avocado club will be held at Carlsbad, October 10, starting with a free avocado luncheon at noon, it was announced today by E. C. Dutton, Anaheim, president of the state organization.

William Gibbs McAdoe, former secretary of the U. S. treasury, and Dr. Phillip M. Lovell, magazine contributor, both members of the association, are scheduled to speak at the meeting. Dr. Lovell will speak on "The Avocado and Health."

The gathering will be entirely informal and everyone is invited to be present. Mr. Dutton states. Probably 4000 persons will be in attendance, as widespread publicity is being given the joint gathering, the Anaheim man says.

It is planned to make an inspection of Carlsbad avocado groves in the afternoon.

A large number of Orange county persons interested in the avocado industry are expected to attend the Carlsbad session.

CALIFORNIA'S PRODUCTS WIN FAVOR IN N. Y. C.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—Last year, New York City received 24 per cent, or 25,527 cars of her total carlot fruit and vegetable supply, from California.

The Golden State led all other states of the union in that market, with a total of 12,600 carlots more than New York state. This is a proud record for California producers; and one that emphasizes the initiative and resourcefulness of distributors.

So far this year, California has led in unloads in the cities of the nation. Of the 554 cars of pears set down in that market during July, 534 cars were California Barletts. During the same month, New York took 2337 cars of cantaloupes, and of these California fields supplied 1235 cars. This is but a part of the perishable supply from California consumed in New York during July.

In the next few months, a large share of the California grape crop will find sale in New York. Last year, Gotham took 13,521 cars of California grapes, and so far this season, this market has taken the bigger portion of California shipments.

Figures given here for July represent unloads during a month when the heaviest supplies of home-grown products and those from nearby states are offered for sale in New York City in competition with California's products, brought from fields 3000 miles away. That California is able to successfully enter the eastern seaboard markets during the summer is due to the quality of product and strict adherence to standardization laws by the growers and shippers of the Golden state, a factor that has made possible the great growth in her perishable fruit and produce industries.

34-Pound Sugar Beet Grown By Tulare Rancher

TULARE, Sept. 23.—W. H. Buehrer, well known local rancher, claims the honor of having raised the largest sugar beet in Tulare county. Mr. Buehrer's prize, a German sugar beet, weighs 34 pounds and is more than three feet long with an average diameter of eight inches.

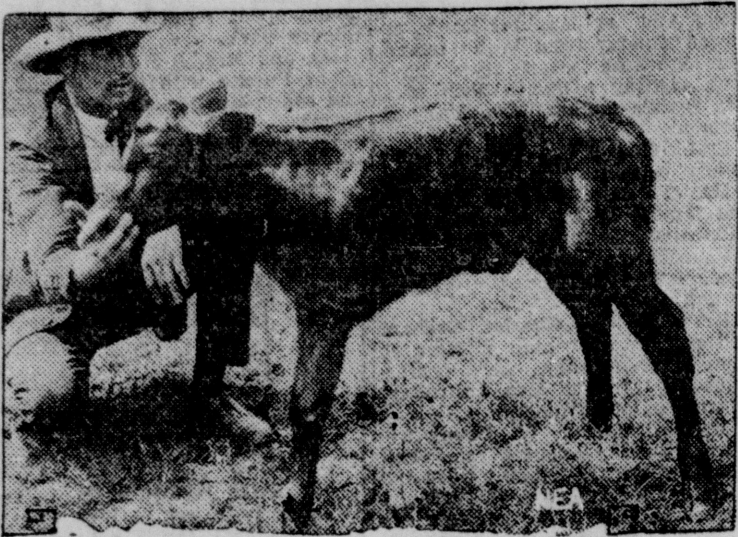

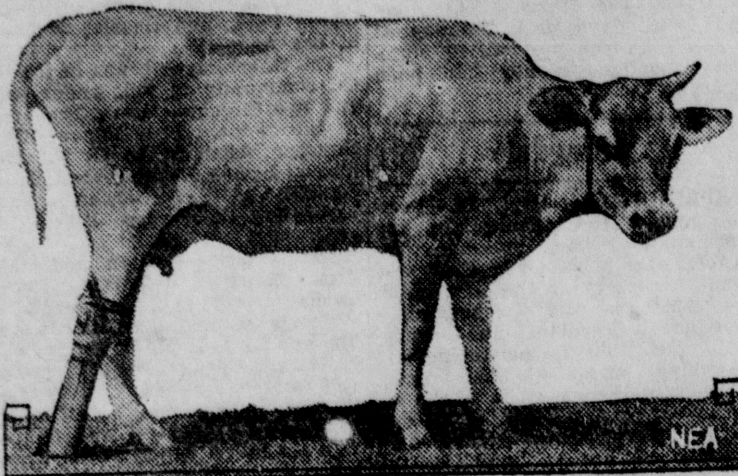

Last year, Mr. Buehrer raised a beet of the same variety which weighed 18 pounds and attracted considerable attention, being the largest heard of in this section up to that time. This year's giant is twice as large.

NO, THEY'RE NOT RELATED

The cow in the upper picture isn't the mother of the calf below her. The older freak was born with four legs on J. C. Burton's farm near Cairo, Mo. A hog bit one off and the cow has since been toddling about with the help of a wooden leg. The three-legged calf, however, is a freak by birth and is normal otherwise. A farmer near Independence, Kas., owns it.

FARM ADVISOR HAS 9 BOOTHS AT FAIR HERE

A series of nine booths depicting various activities of the agricultural extension service of the University of California, represented in Orange county by the farm advisor, is one of the educational attractions at the Orange County fair this week.

A special effort has been made by the farm advisor's office to outline to the public some of the fundamental factors in relation to good fruit and animal husbandry. Among the phases of orchard management that are featured are root stock selection, citrus irrigation, orchard heating, citrus fertilization, disease control, biological control, poultry management and dairy management. Each of these booths has been arranged in such a way as to give a clear and concise picture, so that the fair visitor may take away with him a clear understanding of the teachings of the department.

The booths have been so arranged that the visitor may get the lesson impressions in the shortest possible time. The booths are located on the immediate right as one enters the main agricultural tent, just past the floricultural exhibit.

Another interesting feature offered this year by the farm advisor's office is a collection of subtropical fruits grown in Orange county. This also has been arranged from an educational standpoint, each plate being marked plainly, showing the name, the value and the native habitat of each fruit.

FLORIDA ORANGE CROP IN INCREASE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 23.—A preliminary estimate of the orange crop in Florida by the United States department of agriculture indicates 10,900,000 boxes, excluding tangerines, for 1925-26, or about 600,000 boxes more than the revised estimate of the crop last year.

Tangerine production is placed at 600,000 boxes or 100,000 boxes less than last year, and grapefruit at 7,500,000 boxes, or 700,000 boxes less than last year.

The total preliminary estimate for citrus fruits is 19,000,000 boxes, compared with a revised estimate of 19,200,000 boxes, last year. These estimates are of the commercial carlot and express movement and exclude the usual loss from drops.

For the orange crop, there will be a light season for Parson Browns and other early fruit, a fairly heavy setting of mid-season fruit, and about the same outlook for Valencia and other late varieties as for last year.

Decreased production of grapefruit is attributed to light and spotted setting of fruit, and to the fact that there will be more over-sized fruit than usual. Unless market conditions are such that large sizes can be shipped and sold, they will either move by truck or be lost from dropping, the department says.

Seek To Compute Flies' Influence On Docile Cows

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 23.—The evil influence of the pestiferous fly upon the docile cow is being computed scientifically at the University of California's college of agriculture at Davis.

Word of the new scientific venture was brought to the state capital today by Dr. Stanley Freeborn, college entomologist, who is conducting the experiment.

Twelve cows housed in as many fly-proof stalls and 12 swarms of flies are being used in the experiment, which is expected to show the degree in which flies affect the milk production of cows.

The production of each cow is measured on days when she is permitted to go unmolested by flies and compared with the production on days when the pests are turned into the stalls.

CACTUS BECOMES DELICIOUS FRUIT

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 23.—After completing a course in Luther Burbank's cultural institution, where it lost much of its rough appearance and aggressive mannerisms, the cactus is now taking a unique place in Southern California agriculture.

From a 10-acre planting of this educated member of the cactus family on the Ferraris ranch in San Fernando, several cars of cactus pears have been shipped under refrigeration into the east, where it is received by the Italian, French and Spanish population of the larger consuming centers.

This industry, now several years old, has proved to be very profitable, although the growers faced a problem of educating the public to appreciate the finer qualities of this ambitious native of the southwestern desert.

For eastern shipment, cactus pears are picked slightly immature, yellow in color, and hauled to the packing house, where each fruit is wrapped in tissue paper, and packed in a standard peach box. These containers are loaded in pre-iced cars and the fruit arrives in New York City, the principal market, in fine condition and in full color, a beautiful shade of orange.

Joe Ferraris says the proper way to prepare this fruit is to chill it, then, with a knife and fork, cut off the ends, split the outer coating and expose the seed cavity beneath. Like the pomegranate, the seed cavity of the cactus pear is the edible portion.

The product of Burbank's select finishing school for plants is recommended highly by those who are familiar with its flavor.

DISCUSS MOTH AT SACRAMENTO MEET

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 23.—The Oriental peach moth was a subject of discussion at a meeting attended by nurserymen, fruit growers and agricultural representatives in Sacramento, September 19.

J. C. Fleury, supervising quarantine officer of the department of agriculture, pointed out the injuries characteristic of the insect and the several ways in which it might be introduced and laid the question before the fruit growers as to the advisability of placing a quarantine on all host plants of this very serious pest.

The peach moth is one of the most serious fruit pests that has ever been introduced into the United States and is now known to occur in many states east of Mississippi and in three states west of that line. There is no known infestation in the 11 western states and it is hoped that it will be possible to prevent its spread into this territory. The consensus of opinion at the meeting was that some measure should be taken to protect the western fruit growers against this serious pest.

Director G. H. Hecke of the state department of agriculture was called upon to take such steps regarding quarantine as he felt advisable.

The moth infests peach, nectarine, almond, apricot, plum, cherry, choke cherry, quince, pear, apple, flowering peach, flowering almond, flowering cherry and flowering quince.

Farmers to Meet In North Nov. 5

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 23.—The fifty-eighth fruit growers' and farmers' convention will be held in Sacramento on November 5. The subject of this year's convention will be the regulatory work of the state and federal governments. It has been felt for some time that the regulatory activities of the departments should be thoroughly discussed and their full significance understood by all parties concerned. A program of the convention will be announced at a later date.

STATE, FEDERAL TUBERCULOSIS TEST IS URGED

Declaring that if he were in position to do so, he never would cease work until Orange county had been placed in the list of "modified accredited areas," which means supervision by the state and federal governments of testing of milk cows for tuberculosis, D. Eymann Huff, manager of the Hewes corporation at El Modena, today directed attention to the fact that Tehama county is the latest county in the state to request the California department of agriculture to extend to that county the benefits of the tuberculosis free area law.

Treating on this subject, the Pacific Dairy Review says:

Various methods have been devised in different parts of the country looking toward the eradication of tuberculosis in cattle, but success in California was somewhat limited until the enactment of the free area law in 1921. Since that time, Modoc and Lassen counties have been declared modified accredited areas by the U. S. bureau of animal industry, which is an official declaration that not more than one-half of one per cent of the cattle in either of these areas is affected with tuberculosis.

"The free area law is the most far reaching measure provided for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis. By its terms any county having not more than 10 per cent of its cattle affected may obtain assistance from the state and federal departments of agriculture in stamping out this disease, and through this aid maintain freedom therefrom.

"This protection is afforded by: (a) Preventing the introduction of diseased cattle into an eradication or modified accredited area. (b) Discovery of infected foci. (c) Removal from the area and slaughter of tuberculosis animals. (d) Disinfection of contaminated premises.

"(e) Supervision of the health of animals after all sources of infection within the area have been eliminated.

"Available data concerning the extent of tuberculosis in Tehama county indicates that the survey to be undertaken will not reveal more than 10 per cent of the cattle to be affected with the disease. With this information definitely determined, as required in a provision of the law, eradication measures will continue active until Tehama county enjoys the distinction of being officially declared a modified accredited area and cattle owners therein will be extended the privilege of transporting their cattle to any part of the United States without the inconvenience of having them tuberculin tested.

"There is a growing demand for healthy cattle to replenish depleted herds in various parts of the country where tuberculosis eradication laws prohibit the entrance of diseased animals. Tehama county owners will be fortunate in having their cattle free from tuberculosis at a time when the market for the sale of healthy animals continues promising."

Avocados of This State Rank High

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 23.—During the month of August, eight samples of avocado pears were analyzed for oil content by the chemistry laboratory of the state department of agriculture. Four of these samples, all of which were from Florida, fell considerably below the standard of eight per cent, as specified in the standardization act of 1925. The other four, all of which were from California, were very much higher than the minimum requirement. These few analyses also showed clearly that the water content of avocados varies with the oil content; that is, a low percentage of water indicates a correspondingly high percentage of oil. If this rule is borne out by a larger number of samples, it will be possible to devise a quick test to be used in the field for the standardization of this fruit.

GROWERS HOPE FOR GRAPE BAR

VISALIA, Sept. 23.—It is the general opinion among farm bureau officials in Tulare county that Secretary Jardine of the agricultural department of the United States will continue the strict embargo on the Almeria grape from Spain. Recommendations have been made to this effect and have been given favorable ear, according to reports received here. The western farm bureau agencies are desirous of having the embargo cover the Pacific as well as the Atlantic coast states, being fearful lest the Mediterranean fly find its way into California and other coast states.

The recent visit to the coast of Secretary Jardine, in the opinion of Earl B. Houghton, of Strathmore, director of the local farm bureau organization and member of the state association executive board, will have a fine influence on the general agricultural condition here. He believes there will be better and closer co-operation hereafter between the federal and state departments.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

BOY MUSICIAN, TWO OTHERS TO FACE S. A. JUDGE

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 23.—Last Easter Sunday morn., a band of worshippers gathered for the annual sunrise service heard the clear notes of a cornet ring out, sweet and clear, with the air of "The Holy City." On Thursday morning of this week, the big country-looking boy, Auburn Huffman, who thrilled that early morning congregation, will stand in Judge Morrison's court in Santa Ana, a self-confessed burglar, according to a statement made here today by F. E. Howell, state traffic officer, to whom the alleged confession was made.

The alleged confessions of two other youths that they were responsible with the young musician for the night burglary of a soft drink stand at Green Bay camp, north of Laguna Beach, resulted in all three being held in $2000 bail.

The asserted finding of a stolen shot gun in the cabin of Warren Clapp and the discovery of a slot machine between some rocks has completed the evidence against the boys, according to F. E. Howell, whose detective work resulted in the arrest of the three youths on Sunday after he had worked on the case 10 days.

J. E. Allen complained to Officer Howell on September 10 that his concession stand at Green Bay camp had been broken into. By a process of elimination, Howell narrowed the case down until the three boys arrested were under suspicion. He learned that they had been seen in the vicinity of Green Bay camp just prior to the theft. Picking Auburn Huffman, the youngest of the trio, as the one most likely to confess, Howell put the matter straight up to him and was surprised, he says, at the quickness with which the boy "came through."

Armed with Huffman's story, Howell arrested Warren Clapp and Cecil McAlpine. They denied Huffman's story at the time and the three boys were taken to Santa Ana and lodged in the county jail, where they were fingerprinted and photographed. Later, after a long grilling, Clapp and McAlpine confessed, according to the police.

The boys say the affair was "a lark." Laguna Beach business men are willing to testify to the former good character of at least two of the boys, it is said.

L. A. Publisher Speaker At Kiwanis Club

FULLERTON, Sept. 23.—Addressing the Fullerton Kiwanis club on "The Constitution," yesterday noon, Stanley B. Wilson, Los Angeles publisher, declared that the biggest menace in the nation today is the element which makes the rule of the minority possible, through failing to take advantage of its right to vote. He emphasized the fact that civilization advances only as it is able to force back the power to resist it. In criticizing the present laws, he declared that the rules of congress make possible the blocking of business in this country and that because of this they are "instruments of the devil and an insult to the intelligence of the citizens of this country."

COMMUNITIES MAY BUY OWN FIRE MACHINE

ORANGE, Sept. 23.—The possibility of the outside communities, El Modena, McPherson, Villa Park, Olive and West Orange—combining to purchase a fire truck, which would be stored at a central point, probably at the Orange firehall, presented itself yesterday as a result of a fire on Prospect avenue, outside the Orange city limits, which destroyed a garage belonging to Alfred Rohrs.

The fire, it was declared among outside ranchers, demonstrated the need for fire protection in the outlying communities, which cannot be served by the Orange apparatus.

In answering the alarm, the local department hesitated as to whether to proceed to the scene, realizing that its absence from the city might come at a time when a fire might break out, jeopardizing city property.

According to Fire Chief A. L. Tomblin, the firemen, in answering an outside call, cannot collect pay from the city and do so at their own risk. It was pointed out that the apparatus, paid for by the city taxpayers, must be kept within the city at all times in order to afford full protection to city residents.

WATER PROJECT DISCUSSED BY L. A. ENGINEER

ORANGE, Sept. 23.—The proposed Colorado river aqueduct, bringing water from the Colorado river through Riverside and San Bernardino counties to Los Angeles, probably will cost in the vicinity of $200,000,000, according to off-hand estimates of E. A. Bayley, assistant city engineer of Los Angeles, who outlined the project at the monthly session of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce Monday night.

The aqueduct, starting on the Colorado river at a point about 30 miles above Blythe, would traverse 220 miles by profile through Riverside, San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties, furnishing a source of domestic water supply for an estimated population of seven and a half million people, Bayley declared.

Instead of a gravity project, the proposed aqueduct would depend upon pumping stations to furnish the lifting power from the low points. Between three and four of these stations would be located between Blythe and the summit of the line, near the Coachella valley, Bayley stated.

From that point on into Los Angeles, gravity flow would be developed, Bayley, who conducted the line survey under the direction of William Mulholland, declared that there would be about 60 miles of tunnelling to be done in connection with the gigantic undertaking. One of these tunnels, 15 miles long, situated between Banning and Beaumont, would require nearly 10 years to complete, he stated, adding that work, therefore, should first be commenced at this point at the earliest possible date.

The biggest lift in the world would be entailed in the project, according to Bayley, who said that the four or five pumping stations would be required to lift the water for approximately 1600 feet before finally reaching the summit.

In order to develop the necessary lifting power, a high dam would have to be constructed on the Colorado river, preferably at Boulder canyon, he said. Without the dam, the project would not be feasible as sufficient power could not be developed, he added.

FULLERTON, Sept. 23.—"The Child: Its Nature and Its Needs," was the theme of an address given by Dr. Walter Dexter, president of Whittier college, to members of the Parent-Teachers association when they held their first meeting of the term this afternoon. This subject will be studied by the organization at the next few meetings. Plans were outlined for sessions of the fourth district federation's October convention, which will be held in Fullerton.

The daughter of Veterans held their regular meeting yesterday afternoon and planned an all day session to be held at the home of Mrs. Siebenthal, in Brea, on Monday. Jacob Kerr, a G. A. R. member, was obligated into the order.

Members of the Fullerton Delphian society held their first meeting this season yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. M. Thompson. Mrs. Herbert Sullivan led the discussion, which centered around "Art and Its Relations to Life." Several prospective associate members were present.

Welcoming the Rev. and Mrs. Graham C. Hunter home, members of the Presbyterian church held an informal reception in the church parlors last evening. About 150 friends were present, eager to learn the details of the Universal Christian conference, held in Stockholm and Mr. Hunter attended as delegate at large from the United States. He sailed on July 25, spending five days in Great Britain and three weeks in Sweden, and returned by way of Copenhagen, where he was formerly a worker with the Near East Relief, Berlin, Holland and Belgium.

Mrs. R. W. Jaffray, with some 30 women, her first acquaintances in California, was a guest at luncheon and bridge today of Mrs. Carl Frye, in Los Angeles.

Miss Rebecca Burdorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Burdorf, of this city, will leave next week for El Basisco, in Mazatlan, Mexico, where she will teach in La Escuela del Pacifico, a Congregational school. She will join Miss Julia Wagner, one of her classmates at Pomona college, who is principal of the school.

BANKER NAMED NEW TREASURER OF BEACH CITY

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 23.—Clarence A. Thompson, cashier of the Bank of Balboa, was appointed city treasurer last night by the board of trustees to fill the term of Lew H. Wallace, resigned. Mr. Wallace's resignation becomes effective September 30 and Mr. Thompson's appointment goes into effect October 1.

It was believed that the new treasurer would fill the entire unexpired term of Mr. Wallace, whose time would be up in April, 1928, but City Attorney Bishop stated that the law provides that the next general election, which comes the second Monday of next April, must also be held for the position of city treasurer. The successful candidate then will fill the balance of the unexpired term.

Trustee Fred W. Young, seconded by Trustee Conrad Richter, put the motion accepting the resignation of Mr. Wallace, who has been the city's financial custodian for more than 12 years. Mr. Wallace's letter, relinquishing the job, stated that he was unable to fill it longer at the salary of $50 per month and that, due to new assessment districts coming in, he had been forced to employ clerical hire amounting, in some months, to as much as $150.

The city attorney ruled that it would be impossible under the law to increase the treasurer's salary during the term of the present incumbent, which means that no increase can be voted until April, 1928.

The newly appointed treasurer has been a resident of this section for the past two years and as cashier of the Bank of Balboa has built up and put that institution on a sound basis. Mr. Thompson is also a director of the Balboa Chamber of Commerce and takes an active interest in sports and the civic affairs of the community. He is married and has two children.

PRICE ON CRUDE OIL IS REDUCED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—Lower prices on crude oil at the well were put into effect throughout California by the Standard Oil company yesterday.

The new prices offered by Standard also represent a change in policy, since the reductions vary with the gravity of the oil. Reductions range from 10 to 25 cents a barrel in Southern California fields and are 35 cents a barrel on low gravity San Joaquin county oil. There are 19 classifications.

Formerly the company offered a single price in all fields representing the average value of the oil produced.

No cut in the price of gasoline was said to be contemplated. Under the announcement, there will be no change in price of crude oil to the public.

The new prices and policy change will particularly affect all small companies delivering oil to the large corporations, cut profits and tend to stop "wildcatting," according to experts.

THE FAIR'S SUCCESS

The first day of the four days to be occupied by the Orange county fair presaged the success of the big exhibition. Not only was the fair proven to be a fine, big, worth while show, but the attendance last night proved conclusively that the fair is well on the road to being a success financially.

The financial success is the only factor that remains to be definitely determined. It takes not one day's large attendance to make the week a go so far as meeting its expenses are concerned, but it takes four days large attendance.

Fortunately, the fair is so big and so interesting that one cannot see all that one wants to see in one visit. Two hours under the big tents is itself an urgent invitation to return for another two or three hours.

As a display of the county's fruits and flowers and of its vegetables and walnuts and of its manufacturing industries, the fair is instructive and interesting. It takes a visit to the fair for a resident of the county to come to a full appreciation of the glories of this county as a rich, productive area.

Have you friends in Southern California? Call them on the telephone today, and invite them over to the fair.

There will never be peace in this world as long as trucks and automobiles run on the same roads.

A GENTLEMAN'S OFFER

Caillaux, the French finance minister and wizard, en route to Washington to adjust the French debt, bears with him the unanimous approval of the French cabinet for a refunding plan which is described as "a gentleman's offer to gentlemen."

That sounds rather promising. America need ask nothing better.

Gentlemen are not expected to dodge obligations. They acknowledge and meet "debts of honor," no less when those debts represent valuable goods and services than when they represent mere gambling losses.

And any real gentlemen's offer demands a gentlemanly reception. Gentlemen who happen to be creditors are not expected to exact the last sou from a distressed debtor, even though he be too modest to ask for special consideration.

Anyway, it is obviously no case for mere "figgering." It is a case for courteous and self-respecting presentation of France's position, and for a courteous and self-respecting disposition on the part of the American representatives to meet France half way, for auld lang syne and for the future friendship of two great countries that have much in common.

We insist on sex equality. Now that "Miss America" is duly selected, what enterprising city will hold a contest for "Mr. America?"

ROUNDING THE CORNERS

It is mere common sense to say that where a stream of traffic slows up, there should be a wider space to accommodate it, to keep from blocking traffic behind. Every driver must have noticed this thousands of times. Yet engineers, road-builders and allotment people are strangely slow in making practical applications.

Where is most of the slowing up on streets and highways? At the crossings. Every driver is enjoined to come to a stop, or nearly so, before crossing or entering any main thoroughfare. As a result, crossings impede traffic.

There will always be some obstruction as long as streams of traffic cross and mingle at the same grade. But it is evident that a great deal of trouble could be avoided merely by widening and rounding the corners a little more.

It is the sharp corners that slow up the traffic streams. The gently rounded ones, that make sweeping curves instead of angles, give drivers clear vision as they approach the cross-streets and permit the streams of cars to keep moving. More and more attention is being given to this factor in communities grappling seriously with the engineering side of the traffic problem.

And now it's an ice cream cone trust. The country's leading cone manufacturers have consolidated. Twenty million children will ask the reason why.

ELECTRIC POLITICS

Maine leads the way again. An early fall election in that state may show, as usual, which way the national wind blows. And it is all the more interesting because the vote was not concerned with personal or party politics at all. It was a vote for hydro-electric power.

The project makes an unusual appeal because of its novelty. It seems to be the first big effort ever made in the world to harness the tides of the sea for human service. Passamaquoddy Bay, an arm of the Bay of Fundy lying between Maine and New Brunswick, is to be walled in and the enormous tides of that region put to work.

The undertaking is difficult and expensive. It was planned by one of the country's leading engineers and is pronounced entirely feasible. It is expected to develop half a million horsepower. It will cost many millions, but should be worth the money. Maine thinks so, at any rate, and votes the money.

The world is going to face a food famine in a few years, warns the editor of a farm magazine. Better sell the world a few more tractors.

COSTLY FOOT RESTS

Shoe soles rubbing on plush seats cost the Southern Pacific railroad $10,000 a year. An official of the company states that 1,449 plush seats have to be replaced every year not because of normal wear but because of the ignored rule against putting feet up on them.

Perhaps this is a source of great waste. Perhaps, too, it is a sign of very bad manners on the part of the traveling public. Perhaps it only denotes a lack of suitable foot rests for passengers of varying heights. Railroad users, consulted on this point, would probably claim the use of the opposite seat for a foot rest as an inalienable right and might add that they pay the $10,000 replacement charge anyhow, so the railroads don't actually lose it and everybody ought to be happy.

Chicago passes the 3,000,000 mark, and there's still plenty of room left out on the prairie.

The Fate of the Straw Hat

San Francisco Chronicle. If fashion were always dictated by reasonableness, there might be cause for lamenting the tradition that throws straw hats into the junk in the middle of September. Here in California the days between this definitely fixed date of discard and the 1st of November are among the pleasantest in the climatic calendar. It would appear that if comfort alone were sought, light hat pieces might be retained even after custom turns thumbs down.

The fact is we are all more or less bound by custom. Not alone in the things we wear, but in our amusements and sports there is a cycle we follow without question. Children, certainly not fashion's slaves, follow the rule as unquestionably as their elders. There is an unbroken round in their games, a time for marbles, for tops, for kites, with none allowed to edge in on the season of the football, our opera season and the season for comedy. Our whole scheme of living, in fact, goes by turns, variety being introduced to relieve the dead monotony of daily devising.

Straw hats cannot escape the rule. After the winter eclipse they make spring brighter by their return to favor. It would not be so if we did not forget them for a time.

Example of Enterprise

Sacramento Bee. In republishing from The Bee of the 19th instant an editorial regarding the natural attractions of Superior California, compared with those of Southern California, the Riverside Press remarks:

The point the Press desires to make is that, admitting parity of natural resources, Southern California has shown a spirit of enterprise in the utilization and development of those resources that has not yet been matched by Northern California.

The point good-naturedly made by the Press, which always has given this part of the state due credit, is entirely in accord with numerous articles The Bee has had respecting the progress and development of Southern California.

Unquestionably the southern section long has taken the lead in enterprise as well as widespread advertising, and deserves the utmost praise and appreciation for the progress she has accomplished.

Superior California would do well to study her methods with more attention, and also to follow more fully her example along legitimate lines of endeavor.

Long Life and Its Memories

Bakersfield Californian. Now it is George Darlington who tells how to live long. Read Wild West stories, he advises. But there is more to it than that. He explains:

"They remind me of the happiest days of my life, when I was roughing it through the Middle West." Mr. Darlington is 93, the oldest member of the bar association of Delaware county, Pennsylvania. When he gave up roughing it to practice law, he became an expert fox hunter.

Read Wild West stories? Hunt foxes? Those things are not important, this lawyer would tell you. But he has given a clue. Live so that as you age your memories of youth will be healthy and happy. Sick memories make sick bodies, short life. You make your memories as you go. You have a choice.

Health Topics

By DR. HUGH CUMMING
Surgeon General, United States Health Service

POOR HEALTH CAUSE OF MANY FAILURES
It is safe to say that all parents are particularly anxious concerning the welfare of their children about to enter school and are anxious that they should succeed in their studies and obtain the full benefit to be derived from school attendance.

The clothing, books and equipment which are prepared constitute only a small portion of the equipment necessary for the child at school.

It is of equal if not of greater importance that parents should recognize the necessity for a child's being physically prepared to undergo the change of environment from the home to the classroom, for when this change comes conditions are met which frequently reveal physical defects previously unrecognized by parents.

There are many mothers and fathers still who do not realize that a pupil in poor health will not be able to cope with his studies. Poor health often handicaps a boy or girl in school, retards progress and finally causes the pupil to fall behind in his work.

Even the child himself often does not know the true cause of his backwardness. He becomes discouraged. It is, therefore, highly important that all parents should ascertain the state of their children's health and take steps to have any physical defects corrected.

Remember that slight defects often become greater after the child enters school and faults that are not corrected during school age often remain uncorrected during the years of life that follow and may result in deficiency and incompetency in the work which is essential for self-support.

One of the most serious causes of failure on the part of the student is defective vision. Medical inspections have revealed the fact that a large percentage of school children have eye troubles.

In many of these cases where the eye trouble is the basic cause of retardation in learning, the adjustment of proper glasses has permitted such children to resume their places in the classroom; all too frequently, however, the discovery of defective vision has not been made until the child has fallen behind in his work.

Medical examination prior to the opening of the school term and the discovery of defective vision and its correction will often prevent failure on the part of the child in his studies and consequent discouragement.

Good hearing is also a very important asset. Defective hearing may often follow infectious diseases common among children of school age, and is a frequent complication of diseased tonsils and adenoids.

Parents should watch their children and should observe how they breathe. Mouth breathing indicates an abnormal condition of the nose and throat.

Remember that adenoids and tonsils predispose to infectious diseases and should, therefore, receive immediate attention by a competent physician. Adenoids and diseased tonsils also cause falling behind in school work.

The supervision and correction of the condition of the child's teeth are also of extreme importance.

The Churches are Growing

Kansas City Times. Criticism of the church, like that of the home, marriage and certain other long-established institutions, has become something of a fad in recent years. There are few who would claim that the church is perfect, and criticism of the institution is not a novelty. But the other side of the picture needs to be presented.

Attention has been called to an unusual increase in church membership for several years as one evidence that organized religion has its modern appeal. Dr. R. J. Wade, a Methodist official, points not only to the growth of membership, but to "a new morale, a new determination, and a deepening of the spiritual life," as characteristics of the church at present. There is, of course, no measuring rod by which the degree of spirituality or genuine religion may be accurately determined. But, aside from the opinions of responsible observers, conclusions based upon certain tangible facts may count for something. Dr. Wade cites further the growth of church building and an increased popular interest in church affairs throughout the nation. In the Methodist church alone an expenditure for churches and parsonages of more than eleven million dollars four years ago has increased to twenty-one million last year.

Organized religion remains one of the great and lasting interests of the race.

Worth While Verse

LITTLE LADY HIDE-ABOUT

My little lady Hide-About,
Where do you run today?
Last night the blooms were blowing white,
And now they're gone away.
And now the winds are calling you:
Say, tell me, do you know
The little Elf in hiding place
Where all spent blossoms go?

The trees have put their green leaves on.
The blooms have faded, quite;
I wonder where they stole off to
All down the dreadful night.
And you, wee little Hide-About,
With roguish lips and eyes,
Are running off to play with them
In Elfland, I surmise.

But you'll come running home again
When shadows steal about,
With dust of blossoms on your lips,
And dimples right side out.
I'll count your freckles, one by one,
Your dimple treasures, too,
And gather all the loads of sweets
The blossoms gave to you.

A month or two then passes, and the maiden calls again. She has to wait a bit, so takes here place among the men. She reads the week-old papers, and no more the maiden's vexed. She's used to barber capers and to hearing called, "You're next!"

This time, says she, "Go right ahead and clip the latest fad. As long as other girls have bobbed, my hair can't look so bad." So clippers start to hummin' and the hair flies thick and fast. It kinda makes you wonder just how long the bob will last.

Swing Bill Endorsed

Riverside Press

Unanimous and emphatic endorsement of the Swing-Johnson bill including the all-American canal was given by the state convention of the American Legion at Catalina.

In a resolution adopted without a dissenting vote the convention urges on the president and congress the necessity for speedy enactment of the bill.

The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, the American Legion, Department of California, in annual convention has heretofore twice endorsed the Swing-Johnson bill providing for the construction by the United States government of a high dam at or near Boulder canyon for flood control and the conservation of water of the Colorado river and the construction of an all-American canal in conjunction with such dam under which large bodies of public land would be made available for settlement by ex-service men and women, and

Whereas, the early enactment of such legislation is of great importance, and would be of incalculable benefit to the people of the United States in general, and to the ex-service men and women in particular, and

Whereas, President Coolidge in a telegram to Mr. Charles C. Teague, of Los Angeles, on October 7, 1924, expressed himself in favor of the federal government constructing a great dam at Boulder canyon on the Colorado river for flood control and water storage to provide for reclamation in California and Arizona, and

Whereas, it is apparent that the necessity for the enactment of such legislation at an early date is ever greater and more urgent, now, therefore,

Be it resolved, That the American Legion, Department of California, in its seventh annual convention assembled, hereby again strongly and unequivocally endorses the said Swing-Johnson bill or any similar legislation for the construction by the United States government of a HIGH DAM at or near Boulder Canyon, and the construction of an ALL-AMERICAN CANAL, and urges the speedy enactment of such legislation by congress.

The California delegates to the national convention of the legion will introduce a similar resolution there and are hopeful of its adoption. So far as California is concerned the service men have stood solidly behind the Boulder dam project; and they represent both intelligence and patriotism in their advocacy of the measure. In view of the insidious efforts of selfish interests to weaken and divide the support for this legislation, it is gratifying to find the legion issuing this ringing declaration in support of the Swing-Johnson bill without amendment.

NO. 3—GRUBBY WOODCHUCK GETS CARELESS

The day after Sammy Snake helped out Prickles Porcupine by wrapping himself around the wheel of his automobile, and pretending that he was a spare tire, Cutie Cottontail did somebody else a good turn. It goes to show how kind the world is.

"It was this way," Wally Woodchuck had bought an automobile for the family. It was a nice blue automobile with two seats and a let-down top, and a fine place to put picnic baskets.

Wally was getting lazier and lazier every day, and they do say it that the lazier you are the more you need an automobile.

So Wally bought one. But Grubby Woodchuck, Wally's oldest son, got it into his head that the car was bought for him. It was very queer, because nobody had said a word about the car being his.

And the family scarcely ever saw it. Grubby had it out from morning until night, joy riding around over the country and having a good time.

And at night poor Mrs. Woodchuck just couldn't go to bed for worrying. She kept thinking that her son had been wrecked somewhere off in the dark, or that he had been held up, and all sorts of things like that.

And the gasoline bills were something appalling. Nick noticed that Grubby was getting a lot of gasoline, but he didn't like to tell Grubby's father because he never knew when the old gentleman was sending for it himself, or when it was Grubby getting it for more skylarking.

So things went on and on, until one day Mrs. Cottontail said to Mister Woodchuck, "Say, neighbor, do you know that son of yours is going to get into trouble! Yes, sir, he is. He drives faster every day. I think he goes about fifty-five or sixty miles an hour. He's a regular scorcher! My son Cutie says."

"Dear me!" said Wally. "I'll have to look into this. I'm glad you told me. I'll go to the new gasoline station and speak to them about it."

So off waddled fat Mister Woodchuck to the gasoline station the Twins had set up, to talk over his troubles.

"I've just found out about my son, Grubby, driving so fast," he said to Nick. "And I don't like it. I don't like it. He'll either get into trouble himself or get me into a big damage suit, or kill somebody, or kill himself."

"There! There! Don't get yourself excited, Mister Woodchuck," said Nick. "Nothing has happened yet, and if we use our brains nothing is likely to happen."

Wally brightened up considerably. "That's so," he declared. "There is no use in crossing bridges before we come to them. I always was a worrier, though. What do you suggest? Have you any slow gasoline? Could you fill up the tank in the car with slow gasoline after this when Grubby comes to get it filled up?"

"No, I can't do that," said Nick. "Because there isn't any slow gasoline. There isn't any gasoline that can fix the timer on the car so fast as he has been going."

"That's fine," said Wally. "Just fine."

Now where does Cutie Cottontail come in, you are asking. Well, pretty soon. The story only begins.
